Bar Owner Clashes With Mayor, Ushered Out

D.C. Police Summoned After Lycett Gets Angry With Shouting Kirchhubel

By FRANK LA PIERRE

A heated argument between Daly City mayor Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett and a local bar owner during Monday night's meeting on the controversial business license tax ended abruptly as the angered mayor ordered police to escort the shouting man from the chambers.

It was the first time in the four-year history of the new Civic Center that anyone had ever been thrown out during a public meeting.

The verbal fencing between Lycett and George Kirchhubel started midway through final discussions on the new tax that is now expected to bring in some $209,000 in revenues.

Lycett kept insisting Kirchhubel stay on the subject of the new tax law, but the disgruntled bar owner demanded to talk about the budget, at one point accusing city manager David Rowe of driving an expensive car at city expense.

After repeated warnings, Lycett ordered police Lt. Kharles Terry to escort Kirchhubel from the city hall.

City Manager Rowe opened the tax discussion which could become law within six weeks — after reading through a summary of proposed expenditures and fund balances for the city.

As expected, the estimated revenues from the business license tax kept the property tax rate at three cents, bringing it to $1.85 per $100 of assessed valuation.

There were few surprises in the breakdown or in the business tax finally agreed upon by the city.

Daniel T. Leventhal, owner of Richter's Interiors on the Westlake Shopping Center Mall, leveled a final barrage at the tax, calling it "an inequitable tax."

The merchant., who also resides in Daly City, noted the proposal had turned 180 degrees since it was first introduced two months ago and ventured "of course there has been a lot of lobbying (on the tax) in the meantime."

According to Leventhal the they were discussing thectax with representatives of the city's merchants," Lycett said.

At the close of the arguments, councilman Louis J. Papan praised both the merchants and his fellow councilmen who had participated in the series of talks on the tax.

"After seeing senior citiens being forced out of their homes we knew that was not the area we could turn to for more tax revenues," Papan said.

And while he pointed out "no one likes to pay taxes," Papan expressed the hope it would not be "a great hardship to our city's merchants."

The mayor, after being told by Leventhal that most merchants in Westlake had not been represented during discussions on the tax matter, pointed to publicist Al Baccari seated in the audience and said "Mr. Baccari was the paid representative of the Westlake Merchants and if he wasn't your representative that's your fault not ours."

MENKIN 'LOOKS FORWARD' TO COURT

A Stalemate In San Bruno!

Deadlock On Rescinding Appointment

(Related Story, Page 14)

By BOB PETERSON

The point of no return was passed Monday in the increasingly bitter attempt to remove Christopher (Kit) Menkin as city manager of San Bruno.

Menkin sat tight-lipped through another barrage of charges of his incompetence for the position and alleged falsification of his application.

His only comment came midway through the public discussion when he said, "I'm looking forward to my day in court."

And apparently he'll get his day in court as councilmen unanimously agreed to the hiring of the law firm of Ropers and Majeski of Redwood City to represent Menkin and the three councilmen who voted him in — Mayor Neil Christal, Ted Long, and Dick Griffith.

Cost of these attorney's services will be at the rate of $60 an hour — to be paid from public funds.

Councilman George Corey, who's been pushing strongly for Menkin's removal, said the result could be an expenditure as high as $10,000 before the matter is settled.

Corey's backup in the ousting effort, Councilman Maurice Hamilton, said somewhat dejectedly, "I don't know what we're going to do about it. Long and Griffith chose to take this to court. When we go to court we're spending your money when we don't have to do it."

Victor S. Ogrey, planning commissioner and initiator of the petition to annul Menkin's appointment, said "I would be more than happy to withdraw my suit if you (the councilmen) annul his appointment and continue to seek a qualified applicant. I won't ask to take back

Daly City Must Boost Water Rate 10 Cents

S.F. Hikes Price, Old Wells Get Lower

While most other San Mateo County cities depend solely on San Francisco for drinking water, Daly City has its wells to fall back on in emergencies.

The wells, drilled into the sandy ground many years ago, help cut the cost of buying water from the Hetch Hetchy water system that originates in the mountains near Yosemite.

But San Francisco's proposed new water rate hike of 15 per cent still dictates the need for Daly City to hike its own water rates by ten cents per 100 cubic feet.

This means another $1.50 to $2 per month on the average householder's water bill.

City Mgr. David Rowe explains the city does not use its wells for the total requirement, rather it supplements the Hetch Hetchy water with the well water.

The increase is designed to raise about $400,000 per year for the next four years when it probably will be necessary to again consider the Water Department's state of affairs and levy another raise.

Meanwhile, the thin dime added to the city utility bill mailed out every two months will produce added revenues of some $298,990 to help offset deficits in the current 1970-71 budget.

Most of the money, however, will be poured back into the water department for maintenance, capital improvements of the system and to offset the wholesale rate increase inflicted by San Francisco.

In the first year of the increase the city will realize a surplus of money amounting to some $68,410. This surplus will be gradually eaten away in the second and third years and will be completely wiped out in the fourth year — 1973 — when the council will be expected to again revue the matter and make necessary adjustments.

San Francisco's increase in water rates, which also will hit

S.S.F. Matter Of Parity To Mediator

A meeting originally intended as an executive session turned into a public meeting Monday night in South San Francisco, as councilmen and policemen agreed to take the subject of parity to a mediator.

The city had sent out notice that the meeting was scheduled as a closed executive session for the purpose of wage negotiations.

According to City Mgr. Tom McKenzie, however, the meeting was adjourned and readjourned several times and finally opened as a public meeting in joint agreement of the police representatives and councilmen.

The issue of parity involves a fringe benefit demand of the city's firemen for a reduced work week. Police have stated that parity within the two safety departments has been traditional and therefore the police want equal consideration either in hours or wages.

Greenwood Promise:

Schools To Open Even If Strike

(Earlier Story, Page 4)

Jefferson Elementary School District Supt. Frank Greenwood said Tuesday schools would open in September on time regardless of the outcome of present negotiations with teachers.

But he held out hope an agreement between teachers of the district and the Board of Trustees would soon be reached.

"Parents of children attending have received letters from teachers intimating the schools will be closed unless satisfactory negotiations are completed by September 1.

"The Board of Trustees' plans are simple: Negotiations with teachers have been under way constantly since demands were presented to the Board last spring. Negotiations are still in progress and will continue until agreement is reached," Greenwood siad.

He said as far as the Board is concerned they have every confidence in their negotiating representative, Atty. Paul Hupf.

Greenwood apologized to parents for any concern the teachers' letter caused and refused further comment on negotiations.

New 'Home' For Pacifica City Council

By WILL THOMAS

Pacifica's City Council is moving from its chambers at City Hall, and the administrators of the body's new, though temporary home hopes the council will have the sessions wrapped up by 11 p.m.

That's a good idea that carries with it an immeasurable amount of challenge, for the Pacificans don't often bundle up their actions early on meeting nights.

The final meeting Monday in the old school house that was converted into a municipal building, didn't get adjourned by Mayor Nick Gust until after 12:30 a.m., the earliest in which the council usually manages to transact its business.

Oceana High School will be the so-called "home" of the council for the next six months. Then it will be Terra Nova High School at the opposite end of the sprawling coastal city.

Administrators of the Jefferson High School District, which offered the meeting place — the team-teaching room at Oceana to start with — also hoped the council would be all done with its business by 11 p.m., in the interest of saving of district personnel overtime hours.

There were snickers, even some outright chuckling, when City Manager Jim Swayne mentioned that one, and a few thoughts went back a couple years to recall that Gust when he first became mayor decreed that he would attempt to end the sessions at 9 p.m.

The meetings, however, seemed to get longer.

What prompts the council move is the impending loss of public works offices at the city's corporation yard, site of expanded sanitation facilities and overcrowdedness of other mu-

Two Couples Kidnaped At Gunpoint

Two married couples were kidnaped at gunpoint from in front of their Daly City home by two men early Sunday morning and driven into the Bernal Heights section of San Francisco where they were forced out of their car and robbed.

An unidentified passing motorist happened on the sidewalk robbery and the two kidnapers fled.

Hugh and Bonnie Knight, of 259 Westridge Avenue, were dropping off friends and neighbors, Norman and Marie Guthrie, in front of their home at 254 Westridge Avenue, about 2 a.m. when two men approached the vehicle from different sides.

One of the abductors was armed with a gun while his accomplice brandished a knife and threatened the victims if they made any noise or tried to "do something funny."

While one of the suspects climbed behind the steering wheel the other man armed with a gun forced the quartet to

St. Clair Hearing

First Witnesses In License Probe

Neither side scored any decisive points Monday in the first day of hearings into the allegedly false liquor license application of San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair.

Prosecutor Stewart Judson spent much of the day trooping representatives of the Bank of America, United California Bank and the Union Bank (formerly the Commonwealth Bank) before hearing officer E. A. McDonnell.

Each verified certain personal and business checking and loan accounts maintained by their respective banks and dealing with both St. Clair and his alleged "silent partner," George Sacks.

St. Clair's attorneys — Francis Yee and Joseph Dignan of San Francisco — objected to each banking witness in turn charging that the documents obtained had vilated constitutional limitations dealing with illegal search and seizure.

Hearing Officer McDonnell made the objections a matter of record but refused to act on them at the outset, suggesting they be included in a later motion to suppress such evidence.

The former 49er football star is an owner of a liquor store at 3900 Twenty-fourth Street in San Francisco and is charged with violating his license application by not naming Sacks as a partner in the venture.

On the witness stand later in the day Sacks denied he was anything other than an employe of St. Clair's liquor store.

Sacks said he had at one time loaned St. Clair $6,200 without any schedule of repayment.

"If that store was sold tomorrow," McDonnell asked Sacks, "how much would you get from that sale?"

Sacks answered he would "hope to get the $1,500 balance still owed" and again reiterated, "I have no financial interest in the liquor store."

Judson presented various banking accounts that contained both Sacks' and St. Clair's names as authorized signers to draw from these accounts.

Throughout the better part of the day Judson hammered at the point that both St.Clair and Sacks, a former wholesale liquor distributor employed by Max Sobel Liquors, were the au-

GOVERNOR TO BE IN DALY CITY

Governor Reagan will visit Daly City on September 15 to meet with North County businessmen at a luncheon, Councilman McRobert Stewart announced today.

Stewart, North County chairman of the Re-elect Reagan Campaign, said the governor was vitally interested in discussing various matters with the business community here.

That New S.F. Payroll Tax

It Could Mean Boom Year In San Mateo County

San Mateo County could be the recipient of thousands of new jobs and many relocated businesses if San Francisco Chamber of Commerce fears over new taxes passed by the Board of Supervisors Monday are realized.

The payroll tax on employers and the doubling of the present San Francisco gross receipts tax could mean a boom year for new business construction on the Peninsula.

Assistant General Manager of the S.F. Chamber Fred Martin Monday bared the results of a hastily conducted survey of the city's businesses.

The poll concluded that the proposed one per cent payroll tax would ultimately drive 20 per cent of the city's work force to the suburbs — out of the city.

Martin explained that the entire economic picture of the "city that knows how" will change and an estimated 95,000 jobs will leave with the businesses.

He said the payroll tax would shoot many companies into the red almost overnight.

Hardest hit will be those small companies operating on tight profit margins.

The board of supervisors Monday voted 6-3 to pass not only the payroll tax and gross receipts increase, but an off-street parking and increased utility taxes.

Commuters would be faced with a 25 per cent raise in parking fees at garages around the city. Only exemption will be parking meters.

Mayor Joseph Alioto, while refusing to comment on the issue, is expected to sign all measures into law next week.

San Francisco presently has an estimated 2,750,000 square feet of vacant warehouse space scattered throughout the city.

"San Francisco has among the highest labor costs in the U.S.," Martin said.

If the payroll tax is added it could spell disaster for companies — not just another storm to weather.

First tax to come into effect will be the gross receipts increase expected to start on September 1, while the remaining three will go into effect on October 1 if Alioto signs them next week.

Threats of suit over they payroll tax legality did not persuade supervisors Roger Boas, Mrs. Dianne Feinstein, Terry Francois, Robert Gonsales, Robert Mendelsohn and Dorothy Von Beroldingen to vote against the issue.

Opposed were supervisors John Barbagelata, James Mailliard, and Peter Tamaras.

Tamaras called the taxes a "blunder" and said the "very economic life of the city is at stake." —F.L.P.

Pacifica Adopts Electrical Code

San Mateo County's electrical code soon will become that of the City of Pacifica, with one exception, the city council mandated Monday, after hearing presentations for and against the use of nonmetalic sheet cable in residences.

The council accepted the recommendation of its chief building official, Philip Mayo, who had urged adoption of the county's code, with one change that would require the use of rigid conduit for wiring that would be exposed on homes west of Coast Highway.

Speaking in favor of the municipal legislation that would allow use of nonmetalic cable, such as Romex, was Gordon Blakely of the Building Industry Association, who cited figures designed to show that Romex-type wiring was safe and its use on the increase. Only two California counties don't allow its use, he said.

On the other hand Robert G. Coleman of the Electrical Construction Industry of San Mateo County produced his own survey's figures, indicating there had been death, injury and property damage in the United States and California as a direct result of the installation of nonmetallic cable.

Both men employed visual aids in attempts to project their points, Blakely's slides showing stories in several national magazines assailing so-called outdated electrical codes.

Coleman's film strip showed an induced wiring fire (through intentional overloading), intended to convey to the viewer that rigid or flexible conduit afforded homeowners greater safety. Nails or staples can't accidently be pounded into the metal conduits, he explained.

Coleman also condemned the County Board of Supervisors for adopting the code and "throwing a politcial plum to the cities."

Coleman wasn't alone in his opposition. Wayne Thomas, representing the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, agreed "there has been death and injury" attributed to nonmetallic cable.

He also denied claims that electrical workers were adhering to outdated labor methods, citing the industry's acceptance of flexible conduit, even though it meant reduction of work crews on jobs.

Councilman Daniel Modena decried what he called scare-type "propaganda" found in some reports opposing nonmetallic wiring.

Building Inspector Mayo said his recommendations to approve nonmetallic cable for use under prescribed conditions in Pacifica were based on his "previous experience" in Southern California.

The ordinance was approved upon introduction unanimously.

SAN BRUNO SETS ITS TAX RATE

In the midst of the controversy over the city manager position some other important business came near to being overlooked Monday night in San Bruno.

Among this was the fact the city adopted a resolution establishing the general municipal tax rate for the fiscal year 1970-71. It was set at $1.352 per $100 of assessed valuation. This compares with last year's figure of $1.29 per $100 of assessed valuation, or an increase of six cents.

The tax rate was computed on an estimated assessed valuation of $74 million.

Council Is Criticized

Early in last night's Pacifica City Council meeting the community's government leaders had high praise for a group of young people who had cleaned up a section of beach in the Sharp Park region yesterday.

However, it was nearing midnight when a young man identifying himself as Charles Chavez practically undid it all.

He incurred the wrath of the councilfolk, and some pencil-snapping members of the audience, when he chided the elected officials for doing nothing but passing resolutions and ordinances.

Chavez said, among other things, that he didn't see any of them during the four or five times he was out to help clean up the untidy beach.

"Do you want a pat on the back," inquired an angry Daniel Modena.

The young man got angry himself as Mayor Nick Gust attempted to point out that the council, there since 7 p.m., contributed its time in other ways.

Chavez was told that the city council also participates in many community activities—and they hadn't seen HIM there.

He rapped the city for not supporting the cleanup activity, which was not an organized club effort, but one in which a group of interested young people decided to clean "their" beach, it was pointed out early in the session.

Mayor Gust asked Chavez if he had called the city for assistance.

Chavez replied he didn't think it necessary to do so, since the city should have been aware. Gust failed to convince the young man the city to know of the activity would have to be contacted.

As it turned out, the Coastside Scavengers carted away the debris, as soon as possible after that firm was contacted, the council was told.

Chavez apparently did not want to communicate any more. He stalked away from the podium as Mayor Gust talked.

"There'll be more trouble!," Chavez declared.

sit with their heads down below window level while they drove toward San Francisco.

In a darkened section of San Francisco near Army and Folsom streets the four victims were forced out of the car and robbed.

Before the kidnapers had completed their robbery the headlights of an approaching car scared them off.

The victims told police the men, described as male adults in their late twenties and wearing dark clothing, jumped into Knight's 1970 Ford LTD and sped off.

The car has not been found as yet, police said.

Seeing the incident, the motorist picked up the four victims and drove them to Army Street where they flagged down a passing patrol car.

Mr. and Mrs. Knight reported a gold man's watch, ladies' gold leaf bracelet, $45 in cash and wallet containing miscellaneous credit cards stolen.

The Guthries said their loss included some $110 in cash, a gold man's watch, check book and wallet containing credit cards, plus a diamond ring valued at $1,200. Knight's missing car has a temporary license plate (98500504) and is a two-door hardtop, brown body with black vinyl top.

Noise Standards Letter Received

South San Francisco's resolution regarding the proposed noise standards for California airports has been acknowledged by U.S. Senator George Murphy and indirectly by the Department of Transportation Federal Aviation Administration (FAA).

Senator Murphy said "Noise and air pollution from aircraft is of very great concern to us here in the Senate at the present.

"When this matter reaches the Senate floor you can be sure that I will participate with your views very much in mind" said Murphy.

The indirect response was a letter to Senator Murphy from the FAA. It said in part "The basic objective of the standards; namely alleviation of jet noise nuisance is completely supported by this office. We do however have reservations of a technical nature about the implementation of the objectives."

This last sentence irritated Councilman Warren Steinkamp. "This annoys me" he said. "It's the same old harangue. It means they'll set their own standards."

The letter also said the FAA intention was to "develop constructive recommendations" to be submitted to the California Department of Aeronautics "in the near future."

Councilman Frank Mammini continuing to press for some immediate action such as a class-action lawsuit by the council, said, "The FAA is an entity not controlled by congressmen and senators. They can do anything they please. Any agency understands only one thing — pressures," said Mammini.

City Atty. John Noonan stayed with his stand that the FAA and State Aeronautics Board have the right to set standards, and the public can steer these agencies if done through proper channels.

The discussion ended with Noonan instructed to find out what is the requirement for membership in the FAA.

Witnesses Testify In St. Clair Case

thorized signers in a number of business accounts.

Other well-known names entered the case as Judson unfolded his evidence.

On June 14, 1965, Daly City Parks Supt. Augie Conci cosigned a loan with St. Clair for $6,500 drawn on the Excelsior Branch of the Bank of America.

Conci later explained the loan as "strictly a friendly loan" which had since been paid off by St. Clair.

Aside from the loan, which was made between the time St. Clair was mayor of Daly City and the time he was elected to the Board of Supervisors, Conci had no business dealings with the liquor store owner.

At one time St. Clair owned four liquor stores in Westlake and locations in San Francisco.

North county developer Gus Piedemonte was listed as owner of the building St. Clair and then-partner George Brooks operated as a liquor store at 3910 Twenty-fourth Street, San Francisco in May 1965, Alcoholic Beverage Commission special agent Paul E. D'Andrea informed the hearing officer.

This arrangement has since been dissolved it was learned.

D'Andrea said the investigation centering around St. Clair was initially prompted by a complaint from an unknown source regarding alleged "pooling" practices.

"Pooling" is where a retail liquor store buys a certain brand in volume to take advantage of lower costs and resells to other stores at a markup.

Mgr. Menkin To Be Bonded For $50,000

Late into the wee hours of Tuesday morning — the meeting was still going strong at 2 a.m. — San Bruno councilmen agreed to bonding City Mgr. Christopher (Kit) Menkin for $50,000.

Bonding is necessary protection against inappropriate handling of city funds. The city code provides for bonding of the city manager. Former City Mgr. Gerard Vergeer was not bonded.

Menkin, at the last council meeting, was instructed to seek information on how much it would cost to bond.

He said the city clerk is bonded for $50,000 at a cost of $250, that the city treasurer is bonded for $100,000 at a cost of $500.

Cost of bonding the city manager for the $50,000, however, was repored by Menkin to cost $175.

The motion to instutute the $50,000 bond was made by Councilman Maurice Hamilton and passed on a unanimous vote.

To combat the space shortage the council authorized rennovation of the present building, rather than go to leased office properties elsewhere in the community.

The council chambers will be converted to office space, and on September 14 the councilmen and councilwomen will convene at City Hall for their usual 7 p.m. study session, will open the regular meeting there at 8 p.m., then adjourn to Oceana when everyone gets to the school.

After the 4-1 vote on the ordinance allowing the move, Councilman Harland Minshew, who cast the only negative vote reminded Gust:

"11 o'clock, Nick."

Replied the mayor.

"That's why I voted for it!"

Westlake Merchants Association.

Statements from other merchants that they were unhappy about the tax prompted Lycett to admit he was "bewildered."

"For weeks this council has been under the impression bulk of the tax load would be shared by the city's 800 small merchants while the bigger stores would feel the tax bite less.

The merchant did not feel businesses with large overheads were getting the same shake as those operating with very little overhead, such as physicians.

"I can't in all good conscience concede this tax will do what it purports to do," Leventhal said. "I also think Rowe's figures (on tax income) are an exaggeration.

Lycett said the important thing was the new tax will bring property tax relief to the city's homeowners "and that was our object in the first place."

Hearing Slated

A hearing on a proposal to purchase additional property on Old Mission Road in South San Francisco for expansion of North County courts was scheduled for September 22 by the County Board of Supervisors.

(Menkin's salary to date) money."

Ogrey reiterated that he brought the action on his own behalf, "and not under the guise of anyone." All I support is reasonable, proper and just government," said Ogrey.

Long, filling in for vacationing Mayor Christal, and accounting for the same 2-2 vote split, was adamant about the necessity of having the matter decided in court.

"Is this community going to allow a man to be branded as a cheat and thief and let it go at that?" he asked. "The court is where the truth will come out."

Hamilton interjected at this point. "Don't have too much empathy for Menkin. He was a party to this arrangement just as much as anyone else.

"Responsible city government (in San Bruno) ceased on that (July 27) evening," said Hamilton, remarking that the first step to rectify the situation "is to revoke this high-handed, hasty and premature action."

'Good Artist' Is At Work In San Bruno

An obviously good artist has been at work in San Bruno to take advantage of the controversial city manager situation.

At the Monday night council meeting reams of the work — depicting the councilmen and specifically the fact three had (to the artist's way of thinking done wrong in appointing Christopher (Kit) Menkin as city manager — were passed among the audience.

Apparently the work, done in color-book fashion, has been displayed around town for the past week. A crayon version was posted on the council chamber blackboard.

One version showed a caricature (supposedly of Councilman Ted Long) decked out in a flying suit, consoling another (apparently Menkin) that "there'll be no clowns allowed" in the session. A second drawing showed heads of several figures (supposedly all councilmen) and drawings of flying planes, dirt trucks and freeways, and indicated that "no matter how they paint it" the scene (of appointing Menkin) was a bad one.

Long, incidentally, initially came into city hall early in the evening carrying a sign he said he found posted on a bush. It read: "Kit Menkin is alive and living in city hall. But he's hungry!"

And at one point in the six+ plus-hour meeting, Long held up the placard and drawings and said, referring to the artist's alluding to Long's interest in dirt haul, freeways and airport, "Those are the real issues. That's what's going on in this town."

Orientation Day Set For D.C. Schools

Orientation day for new students will be held at 9 a.m. at Serramonte High School and 8:30 a.m. at Westmoor High, both in Daly City, September 3.

Principal Louis Martin announced that bus stop information will be mailed to students already enrolled at Serramonte.

Martin urged students as yet unregistered for the September 10 opening of school may do so during the last two weeks of August and first week of September.

Westmoor Principal Clay Kollmann said an assembly will be conducted by student body officers led by President Jim Musslewnite. It will be followed by small-group discussions.

Kollmann asked the new students to take a copy of their fall semester program to the two-hour assembly.

Cash Taken From Auto

Two Millbrae men put a wallet containing $260 in the glove compartment of their car for safe keeping, only to return to the vehicle and find the money gone.

The incident occurred in San Bruno.

The men, Robert M. Davis, 23, and Roger E. Bayers, 29, told police they parked the car in the 600 block of San Mateo Avenue and left it for a short period. Also taken was a radio lying beneath the seat of the car.

Pacifica's New Fishing Pier Extension Of Avenue

Unless offshore soil and wave action tests dictate otherwise, Pacifica's new fishing pier will be an "extension" of Santa Rosa Avenue.

The structure also will provide the support or an outfall linet hat will be part of a massive sanitation improvement program.

The shift in the location of the pier to the south of its originally intended site came at the urging of Lester Clark, new community development director.

He recommended the pier be built in an area where there would be room for anticipated future development.

In related resolutions, the council appropriated $6500 for the wave and soil tests by Tetra Tech, Inc., and authorized execution of an agreement with Woodware-Clyde and Associates, appropriating $13,500, for engineer work in connection with the fishing pier and the outfall.

A 10-Cent D.C. Water Rate Boost

its own residents, amounts to some $28,000 over last year.

The department's total expenditures exceed $1.4 million and the estimated revenue at for former existing rate left a $348,000 deficit.

And Daly City's wells just aren't what they used to be.

Every year the wells get lower and the amount of water that must be purchased from San Francisco increases.

The wells are not "drying up." The population is getting bigger and they are buying bigger water users such as dishwashers, washing machines, automatic lawn sprinklers and a raft of other helpers that depend on water for operation.

When the rate goes into effect within two months, it will be the first increase in this department since 1952.

Candidate Visits Nixon

John Sherman, Pacifica's city attorney, was at President Nixonn's summer White House Tuesday, innvited as a G.O.P. candidate for the California Assembly.

Pacifica's City Council made his mission twofold Monday when it approved a resolution and asked Sherman to "hand-carry" it to the President's "summer cabin," to use Mayor Nick Gust's words.

Sherman nodded he would, but also quickly corrected the record to show he was visiting the "summer White House" at San Clemente, not the "cabin."

The resolution, by title only, is one "urging the Department of Health, Education and Welfare Environmental Control Administration, the Packaging Industry and all others concerned to make every effort to reduce the quantity of packaging materials used to solve the technical difficulties of packaging waste and to prevent the destruction of valuable natural resources from which many packages are made."

'Nightmare' For D.C. Policeman

Brisbane policeman Dennis Sullivan thought he was helping Daly City police officer Terry Hanebeck and Bob Jordan make an ordinary everyday traffic stop Friday on Bayshore Boulevard near the Guadalupe Canyon Parkway.

But the "everyday" traffic stop quickly turned into a mild nightmare for the officer who ended up.

(1) dodging speeding traffic as he tried to apprehend the suspect;

(2) Having his pants practically ripped off, and

(3) painfully bruising both his hands.

And before he could make the arrest the suspect popped what appeared to be a marijuana cigarette into his mouth and swallowed it.

The incident started about 2:30 a.m. as officers Hanebeck and Jordan raced after Garry E. Brewer, 20, of 422 Magellan Street, Pacifica, allegedly speeding south on Bayshore Boulevard through Daly City.

As the vehicles crossed into Brisbane, officer Sullivan entered the chase and the suspect was finally stopped near the parkway.

Instead of going along with the Day City officers quietly, Brewer tried to flee, according to Sullivan.

Daly City JCTA Writes Citizens

"Daly City Elementary teachers will not continue to teach until specific deficiencies in the district are corrected."

Such were the blunt words used in a letter to Daly City parents from the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association.

Carrying no signature, the "letter" received by district parents last week in the mails, told of current JCTA negotiations with the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees over a proposed master agreement submitted by the teachers' organization.

The two groups "are now meeting in order to come to agreement for the improvement of your child's education," the message stated. It noted, however, "these two bodies are having great difficulty coming to terms on several vital items."

Specifics were not mentioned.

The threat of a strike was there, however. Teachers already have voted not to report to work in September if the issues remain unresolved, and in the letter the JCTA indicated it was "cooperating," but that negotiations continued not to progress.

So, it urged the parents to "help, so that your child will be able to go to school this September."

That "help" could come in the form of writing the elected board members, it was suggested.

"These board members are elected by you to represent you," the letter continued. "Let them know that you want these negotiations settled by September 1, so your child-children can go to school in September."

TV Part Of Curriculum

Educational Television in the Laguna Salada Schools will continue to be an integral part of the curriculum, according to Assistant Superintendent Marvin Morganti. Contracts have been signed with both KQED and KTEH (Santa Clara County Office of Education) for the forthcoming school year.

Bayshore Sanitation Board Sets $235,000 Project

The 1970-1971 fiscal year budget of the Bayshore Sanitary District has been adopted at a total dollar amount of $289,175; and concurrently, the board of directors unanimously voted to hold the and not raise the District's present 35-cent tax rate.

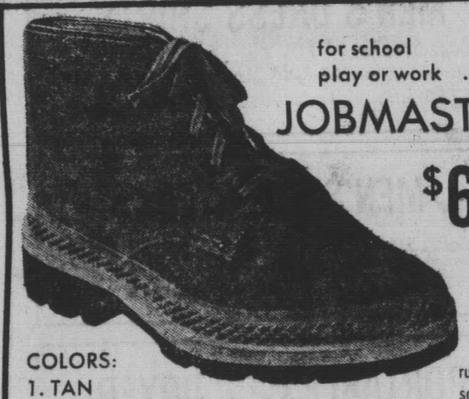

In initiating this action, the directors (Chairman Eric Carlyle, Secretary Elmer Aydelott, Members John Broda, Bill Showers and Bert Painchaud) took note of the fact that prudent investment of their reserves and the revamping of the District's sewer service charge structure has accounted for the lessening of the financial burden on the residential property owner.

The outstanding expenditure included in the District's 1970-1971 Budget is an amount of $235,000 for a sewage pump station and collection system improvements. This project will achieve separation of the sanitary waste from the storm water flows and will be partially financed by a grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Pilot Program For Year

No 'Flunks' In Oceana High Math

There'll be no D's and F's for students taking mathematics when school starts at Oceana High School September 10.

But, there could be a few "incompletes," it should be pointed out to those whose smiles might get too big for their faces.

The revisions will be coming in a new "pilot" program authorized just last week by Jefferson High School District trustees.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the new grading system applies only to the mathematics department, and, as it stands now, only for a period of one year.

The plan essentially is this:

Grades A, B and C, but no D's or F's for college preparatory and elective classes.

— Grades of "excellent" and "satisfacotry" for the non-college preparatory classes.

— Quarter grades will not be averaged; will show progress only. The semester grade would show the student's level of mathematics compentency at the end of the semester course.

Ernest Ribera, assistant superintendent for instruction, explained that a first quarter grade of "B", for example and a second quarter mark of "C" would be recorded at the end of the semester as a "C" — that is, the last grade, indicating in this instance a decrease in the competency.

"Presently, we sometimes penalize a student for seeking more challenging courses, intimidating them with the stigma of failure," noted a request for the pilot system from the Oceana mathematics department.

Additionally, they believe the common interpretation of relating a letter grade with a certain level of competence" has no significance. It was asserted.

The use of "F" or "D" grade, they advanced, "only serves to reinforce failure in a student, and offers no positive motivation of psychological advantage."

Under the adopted system, the "failure threat would be eliminated, "as the mathematics teachers put it.

Now, any student not achieving or maintaining standards to pass would receive an incomplete — and no credit for the course. The incomplete would remain until such time as the student passes the course. If the course is not passed, the incomplete would remain idefinitely on the student's transcript.

The mathematics personnel see a number of advantages to the one-year program:

"It is much more positive in its approach, it is less threatening, it does not adversely affect the student's grade-point average and in the area of the non-college prep course it is a more meaningful assessment of the student's performance."

Stolen Car Is Found On Devil's Slide

A New Yorker's stolen car was found on Devil's Slide in Pacifica Thursday after being stolen Wednesday night in Millbrae.

Millbrae police said the 1969 auto was taken from an apartment house at 135 Garden Lane, and belonged to James Phelan, recently of Elmhurst, New York.

Last night, it was found, crashed into a crevice on Devil's Slide, 200 feet down from the roadway, and two miles south of the Pacifica city limits.

Pacifica Fire Captain Joseph Hill was winched down to the auto, which was lodged some 400 feet above the ocean.

He said the car was empty, and not recoverable.

Coast School Staff Back Next Tuesday

Laguna Salada Schools will open their doors to over 9,000 pupils in grades 4-8 on Thursday, September 10. The first day has been set as a minimum day so that teachers and administrators can reorganize classes following the opening sessions.

The 15 schools of the large Coastside district will continue to provide Miller-Unruh Specialist Reading Teachers and will be introducing a new series of mathematics textbooks for all grades. Added curriculum developments will be in the areas of vocal and instrumental music, physical education, and science, according to Assistant Superintendent Marvin Morganti.

A full series of pre-school opening activities for the staffs of the Laguna Salada School District has been set by Superintendent James Brien.

All administrators returned on August 24, and held administrative council meetings yesterday.

New teachers will spend a day of orientation when they report for work on Tuesday, September 1. The curriculum consultants will be in charge of this event, which wil include a "Welcome to the Community Luncheon" sponsord by the local Jaycees.

A general meeting for all teachers — approximately 400 — will be held in the auditorium of Skyline College on Thursday, September 3. Dr. Staten Webster as featured speaker will discuss "Concerns for Minorities in a White Community."

War Claims 10th Victim From Coast

A 21-year-old Terra Nova High School graduate, Sgt. John Premenko, has become the tenth Pacifican to die in Vietnam and the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick P. Premenko to perish while in the service.

An older brother, Peter, drowned at the age of 20 while on duty with the Coast Guard at Okinawa three years ago. Another brother, David, 22, is with the Army in Germany.

Sgt. Premenko's widow, Elizabeth Goff Premenko, was notified of his death at the home of her parents, the Paul Goffs.

A radio operator, Sgt. Premenko was assigned to the 5th Special Forces Group (Airborne).

Both he and his wife attended Terra Nova High School, located in the back reaches of Linda Mar Valley. Premenko was described by school officials as a "good student all the way around . . . a hard worker . . . dependable."

Said to be a "boy with a lot of talent," Premenko majored in industrial arts, and also played B team basketball.

He attended Terra Nova for three years, coming from St. Francis High School in Watsonville his freshman year when his father was a carpenter for the Challenge development company, the school said.

Car Wash Is Rejected

An application to establish an automatic car wash and install associated gas pumps in the vicinity of another such facility was rejected by Pacifica Planning Commission.

In following the recommendations of its staff, the commission urged Motor Valet, represented by Ellard Taylor, to find another location.

Charlie Warren Returns- Maitre'd A. Sabella's

Charlie Warren, one of the most popular maitre'ds in the Bay Area (he spent the past few years acting in this capacity at Bimbo's 365 Club until its recent closing), has taken over his former post as maitre'd at A. Sabella's on Fisherman's Wharf. This should be good news to Charlie's countless friends. Am looking forward to a dinner visit with the genial gent this weekend . . . Al Williams, host of the Papagayo Room in Pacifica, always autographs a special Mexican birthday card for his birthday guests. This is accompanied by a serenade from his Strolling Troubadours . . . One of my favorite a.m. stops is Fosters Pancake and Farm-Fried Chicken House. A bowl of oatmeal mush, a toasted Fosters English Muffin and a bottomless cup of coffee puts this Scribe in a happy work-day frame of mind. If you're a breakfast gourmet, have Chef Tom Williams, who has been appeasing big (and not so big) appetites at Fosters for the past nine years, prepare one of their many pancakes for you (there are 15 different kinds) . . . Did you know: Vince's Italian and Sea Foods also offers food to go? The same delicious Italian dishes and seafood specialties are packaged for your eat-out convenience.

Charlie Warren

Competition in the world of cuisine for new recipes has forced Art Davis, the award-winning head chef at Sil Oliva's Exposition Fish Grotto at Fisherman's Wharf, to conceal all his special concoctions either in the wall safe or in his head. And only he knows the combination — to both . . . Besides favorite dishes of merry ole England, a specialty of the Lord Fletcher Inn, Atherton, is Watneys Red Barrel Light Ale, imported from England, which is drawn from the barrel on draught. Guests may also choose from three outstanding pressings — a dry Burgundy, a crisp Napa Rose or a chilled, dry Chablis (served in the Flagon). "There is no substitution for quality," is the motto of the Lord Fletcher Inn . . . "I've never been known to skimp on my pizzas," says Enrico Romano, owner of Romano's Italian restaurant in Pacifica's Rockaway Beach. "When I go to cover one of my babies, all the trimmings go with it." Enrico might have added that pizzas can be ordered to go anytime after 4 p.m., and are considered the best anywhere on the Coastside . . . Get two National League umpires to agree — and that's news. Frank Secory and Al Barlick dined on broiled-to-perfection steaks in the luxurious Wellington Room of Phil Lehr's Steakery in downtown San Francisco, and the decision was unanimous: "Greatest steaks and decor."

Art Davis

The Castaway Offers True Island Atmosphere

Enjoyed a short chat with Jim Pias, general manager of the Castaway, a beautiful Polynesian restaurant set among trees on Coyote Point. After a tour of the grounds with its sweeping marine vista and soft cool breeze, your Bright Lighter was in awe at its tropical splendor. An impressive reminder of a dining visit here is the commanding view from the tiered dining room of in-coming and out-going planes, and the superb service of notable cuisine and exotic beverages by cordial Oriental waiters. The Castaway serves a delightful Sunday Brunch from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., in addition to luncheons and dinners, which are served daily. Pias reminds the ladies that women's fashions are modeled each Tuesday and Thursday during luncheon . . . Besides such "La Cucina Toscana" offerings as Veal Scalloppine Marsala and Veal Parmigiana, Prime Rib of Beef (served Friday and Saturday only), Steak and Lobster and many other enticing entrees are to be found at the Black Stag in Belmont. Daily luncheon specials include Tortellini Bolognese, Mostaccioli with Italian Sausage, and Hamburger Steak with Spaghetti. Special arrangements for private parties.

Sweet Mary Lou Francis of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City has collected many curios to satisfy the browser before dinner. On display at the entrance to the dining room and cocktail area are campaign buttons dating from 1880 to the present. Recent diners here were Tom and Millie Saville of San Mateo, who were celebrating Millie's birthday . . . The Arlington Plaza Motor Hotel is one of Reno's newest and most luxurious, complete with high-rise accommodations, and located only two blocks from the city's liveliest action. Package groups or convention rates on request . . . Jerome Cowan, whose list of acting credits in TV and on the screen is as long as any, was a ringsider at Finocchio's with his lovely wife, and stayed through two entire performances. Cowan rarely, if ever, misses seeing this most unusual entertainment of female impersonators when he happens to be in the area Diana George and The Phil Lenk Trio top the V.I.P. Lounge show bill at the Airport Marina Hotel, Burlingame.

MEET THE NEW EXECUTIVE CHEF — Pete Selaya is the new executive chef at Dave Rasmussen's Shadows of San Mateo. Pete is no stranger in these parts, having spent most of his working life in various San Francisco and Peninsula kitchens in an executive capacity. "Some minor menu changes are planned for the future. We are presently concentrating on luncheons, dinners, and the Banque Room for banquets, large parties, luncheon fashion shows, etc.", reports the culinary expert.

Lost Knight Lounge Has "Found" Dancing

Clay Wolf, owner of the Lost Knight, Inc., is fast establishing his cocktail lounge, located in the beautiful new Royal Inn Hotel in South San Francisco, just north of the San Francisco Airport on Airport Boulevard, as one of the" in spots" along the Airport Strip. The newly enlarged room, which was formerly a piano lounge, now seats 110 persons. The atmosphere is superb, with the accent on intimacy and living room relaxation. Manager Monty Adams presides over the bar, and The Larry Polson Trio plays for cocktail dancing Tuesdays through Saturdays from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The trio, featuring Larry Polson on bass, Joe Davis on piano, and Bill Hendrick on drums, draws its library from almost every type of music — which means all music tastes can find something to their liking. . . . The elegance of The Matterhorn restaurant is making it the talk of Burlingame. The style is Continental, and the cuisine, prepared by owner-chef Wilfried Blarer, is a special blend of European and American dishes . . . The latest issue of Plymouth Traveler Magazine names a few select San Francisco restaurants. One of them is Doros, of which the writer says, "Doros is our favorite from atmosphere to elegant food."

Clay Wolf

The Donati Brothers passed each other at the front entrance of their South San Francisco New Southern restaurant this week — Julio returned from his Canadian vacation, and Reno was heading for a relaxing time at the family cabin in Boulder Creek. Meanwhile, "back at the ol' homestead," Nick Sbarra, the third member of this dynamic restaurant trio, is keeping the "home fires burning" . . . Sal Campagna, owner of the House of Troy in San Carlos, scored 124 during a recent golfing vacation in Monterey. When he returned to the home links, he scored 82. Try practice, practice, practice, Sal . . . Judging from the increase in tourist trade, the word must have made the rounds. In the entire history of Bruno's in San Francisco's Mission, more vacationists have dined at the popular restaurant this year than ever before. Perhaps those exclusive recipes concocted by Chef John has something to do with the increased influx of out-of-towners . . . Betty's Pic n' Pan, located at the Gateway to Bay Meadows Race Track in San Mateo, features "home cooked meals" — and that's for breakfast, luncheon and dinner. The day begins at 7:30 a.m. for owners Betty Ann Miles and Geraldine Parks and goes at a fast pace until closing time — 8 p.m., except Saturdays, when "post time" is 3 p.m. Hot tip: Order the home made Strawberry Short Cake. It's the greatest!

Nick Sbarra

Bright Lights promised you last Wednesday to find our good friend Bill Mills — and so be it. Bill is now manager of Mr. C's Redwood Room at Tom Culligan's Boulder Creek Golf and Country Club, located on Big Basin Highway, three miles West of Boulder Creek. Family-style dinners are served Wednesday through Saturday from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m.; Sunday, 5 p.m. to 10 p.m. Open daily for breakfast and luncheon, Monday through Friday. Dancing to live music every Friday and Saturday evening. Bill invites all his Peninsula friends to stop in and say hello and to enjoy a "vacation" away from the business whirl . . . Monday marks the opening of Deejay's (formerly Chip's Serenade) in Belmont. There will be dancing to lively music seven nights a week. "Attitude Adjustment" hours are 4 p.m. to 7 p.m., with hot hors d'oeuvres as an added attraction . . . When in Burlingame, set your sights for The Putter — and enjoy one of their "hole-in-one" cocktails. There's plenty of action in this popular Burlingame Plaza spot from 3 p.m. to 2 a.m. Live music from 9 p.m. . . . Margie Brandon returns to the organ bar keyboard tonight at Clancy's (Formerly Gilbey's) in San Francisco. The completely-redecorated club will brighten up the Powell Street area. No doubt Margie's "choir singers" will be out in masse for the vocal send-off.

When a market takes the stamps away...

Stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe...Blue Chip Stamps cost your grocer about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a 45¢ jar of peanut butter doesn't change by a penny with or without stamps.

What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is also about to go away. Sometimes it's service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes the choice of brands. The discount market is no longer a full-service market.

And when you're asked to save on your own for the things you need around the house, a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like books of stamps. And you don't seem to get that toaster as fast or as easily as you thought you would. And the new sheets don't come along quite as often.

For some of us, the best thing about stamps is that they help us to save. Stamps literally save us a lot of money.

So when a market tells you they're saving you money by giving up stamps, ask them what else they're giving up.

Stamps are a valuable service to a shopper. They go along with the other advantages you expect from a full-service supermarket. And no matter what some folks would have you believe, it pays to shop where you get them.

BLUE CHIP

...they're taking away a lot more than just stamps.

Griffith Rips Councilmen Corey, Long For 'Acting Like Kids' In San Bruno

As momentum built for the expected hot San Bruno council meeting Monday night, Councilman Dick Griffith called upon fellow Councilmen George Corey and Ted Long to "stop acting like a couple of kids fresh out of law school."

Griffith said Corey is "trying to make the rather difficult transition from government by caucus to government by circus."

He said Councilman Long "appears to be planning to bark a sideshow of his own" by taking advantage of his role as chairman in the absence of Mayor Neil Christal.

"Mr. Corey has frequently jeered at me, in personnel and caucus session, saying, 'It's a majority decision. You're outvoted. What can you do about it.' I was even urged at times to 'go along with the majority'," said Griffith. "What I have done is explain my dissenting votes to the public and stick to my guns.

"Turning what is supposed to be a deliberative city legislative session into one councilman's kaffee-klatsch does not serve the public interest," charged Griffith.

"It is Mr. Corey's job, and mine, when we are in the minority, only to apprise those who do not already agree with us of the merit of our dissent. Mr. Corey's and Mr. (Councilman Maurice) Hamilton's reactions have been strictly sour grapes.

"How Mr. Long would go them one better," said Griffith. "Astride his little council chamber like a Colossus, he would rap a heavy gavel on all their heads in order to clear the way for a circus of his own.

"If this should happen," said Griffith, "I would say a plague on both your kangaroo courts. Let's get on with the legislative business of this city, in accordance with majority rule under the state and federal law and constitutions, as we have tried to do in the past."

Griffith also chastised Corey and Hamilton for voting to withhold the salary of City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin.

"Both councilmen violated all the canons of municipal statesmanship at the August 10 meeting when they took advantage of Long's absence to stall the city manager's pay," said Griffith.

"It is the first time in the history of San Bruno that any councilmen have stooped to this low tactic—violating the basic understanding that majority dereversed due to any vacation absence.

"Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Corey have set a precedent here which could lead to chaos and much waste of time in legislative procedures. With such surreptitious behavior, it would behoove all councilmen in the future to take their vacations between council meetings," said Griffith.

S.S.F. School Will Enroll

Roger Williams School, Magnolia and Grand Avenues, South San Francisco is close to top enrollment for the coming year. This fall the school will begin its 25th year. Grades include kindergarten through sixth.

Use Permit, Variance Approved

A combination use permit and variance recently appealed by Councilman William Borba was granted approval on August 17 by unanimous vote of the South San Francisco councilmen.

Borba had appealed the matter on grounds a sewer pipe was not located within a 10-foot property easement. The use permit and variance seeks permission to construct a delicatessen, liquor store and small shop on the southwest corner of Camaritas and West Orange Avenues. It was sought by J&R Donati.

Director of Public Works Lou Goss explained he attempted to find out why the sewer line was located as it was, near the rear of the Donati property which fronts on Camaritas Avenue south of Arroyo Drive.

He said he checked records back to 1946 and was unable to find any record of it. He added the sewer was constructed shortly after the subdivision of Buri Buri, and the man who was the works engineer and acting city engineer of the city at the time has died.

Goss said it would not be necessary to move the sewer, nor a related storm drain pipe, to accommodate the new construction. He also explained the property line would not be affected by a proposed pedestrian overpass, which, incidentally, is the subject of a September referendum election.

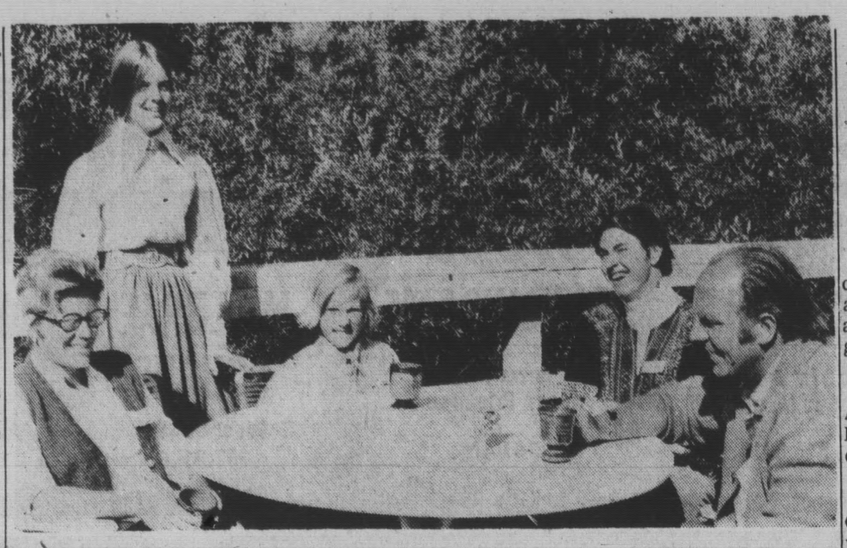

Borba and Councilman Frank Bertucelli also got off on a tangent about possible future service stations on a site across the street from the Donati property.

As Borba and Bertucelli explained it, they had taken a tour of the area with Goss and had been led to believe that the property is a future service station site.

Planning Director Dan Pass soon squelched that idea, and in doing so chastised Goss for treading on planning department grounds.

"Service stations were proposed to the planning department twice," said Pass. "They received no encouragement because there already are three stations in that area. It's very doubtful from a planning viewpoint that there would be a service station on that site.

"It would help if the engineering department would refrain from such official announcements (as saying there will be a service station on a certain site)," he said. —B.P.

Roger Muller of Horsham, Victoria, Australia, is now at the Vallemar, Pacifica, home of his American "parents," Mr. and Mrs. Rudie Tretten.

He will spend the school year here under the sponsorship of the Pacifica Chapter of the American Field Service.

Members of the Pacifica Chapter of AFS and their families welcomed Roger at a Backyard Barbecue at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Brien on Sunday, August 23.

Mrs. Walter Griffiths, new membership chairman of the Pacifica AFS, will be glad to hear from people interested in the work of the chapter.

The American Field Service is a non-profit, non-sectarian organization which, through its international scholarship programs at the secondary school level, endeavors to bring about understanding among people of many nations by providing a new dimension in the living and learning experiences of teenage students.

There are two American Field Service programs. One program annually brings over 3000 students from 61 countries to the United States.

Another, the Americans Abroad Program, sends 1400 American teens yearly to 44 countries overseas. In the past 22 years, a total of over 47,000 students from 79 countries have participated in AFS scholarship programs.

A Brisbane Man Crushed By An Auto

An elderly Brisbane man was crushed to death last Saturday at a Daly City service station after he accidently engaged the gears of a car being worked on by a mechanic.

The victim was 79-year-old Anthony Cuneo of 322 Monterey, Brisbane, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital.

Authorities in Daly City said Cuneo had gone to the Speedway Gulf Station at 2700 Geneva Avenue, with his brother-in-law, B. F. Snook.

Snook had taken his car to the station for the mechanic, Raymondo Enriquez, to check a vacuum leak.

While Enriquez was inside the car, with its motor running while he worked beneath the dashboard, Cuneo opened the door on the driver's side to see what the mechanic was doing, according to police reports.

Cuneo then accidentaly hit the gear shift lever, engaging the gears. The car abruptly shot forward, barely missing Snook, who had started to walk around the car.

The 26-year-old mechanic was able to reach up and slam the car into "park," however too late to save Cuneo, who was knocked to the ground and dragged beneath the vehicle.

The left rear wheel of the car crushed Cuneo's head before the car was halted.

Both Snook and the mechanic suffered only minor injuries, police said.

500 Youths Participate In Festivity

There were ice cream and floats at the Circus Maximus Day in Daly City Friday with more than 500 youngsters taking part in the end-of-summer event at the Westlake Park playground.

Floats were made and manned by the children while the 600 cups of ice cream were once again donated by former city councilman Edward J. Dennis — retired head of the Milk Drivers and Dairy Workers Union.

Winners in the "Most Coloful" float category of the parade were Abe Lincoln School with their "Alice in Wonderland" entry, with Palisades School in the runnerup spot with "Alladin and the Magic Lamp" float.

The "Most Original" prize was grabbed by Garden Village school with "Knights of the Round Table." Our Lady of Mercy took the second spot with their entry, "Humpty Dumpty."

Police Car Smashed In Speed Chase

A California Highway Patrol car was smashed slightly early Sunday evening after a high speed chase which ended also in the arrest of Wolfgang H. Green, 21, of Lagunetia, Calif.

South San Francisco police responded to the East Grand Avenue scene about 6:30 p.m. to learn that several CHP vehicles had been giving chase to a stolen car driven by Green.

According to their reports the CHP vehicle driven by Officer Paul H. Whitmore, who sustained minor injuries, was bumped twice by the Green vehicle, then sent skidding into a power pole.

A second CHP car, driven by Officer William H. Davenport, also was forced into a side skid by the Green vehicle as it made its way into the South San Francisco industrial area.

Finally stopped and arrested, Green was charged with assault on a police officer, resisting arrest and reckless driving.

Three Firemen Hurt In San Bruno House Blaze

Three firemen were injured Sunday as they fought a crackling blaze on the roof of an old San Bruno home.

The fire, of undetermined origin, demolished the roof and caused extensive damage to an upstairs apartment at 876 San Felipe Avenue.

San Bruno fire officials estimated an unofficial $10,000 damage figure, $2000 to the contents of the two-story structure, owned by Raymond Beford, who lived on the lower level.

Most of the interior damage, a fire department source indicated, was on the second level, where Mr. and Mrs. Gary Schossler reside.

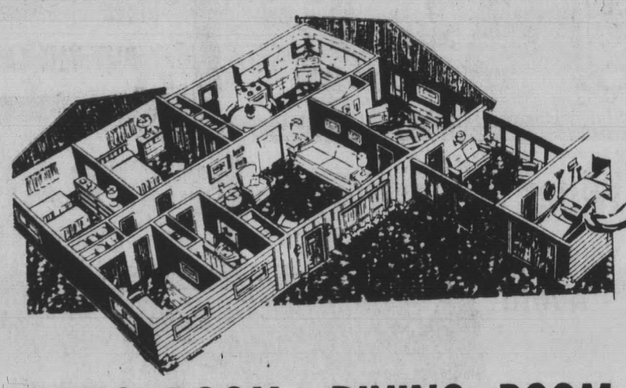

They were not home at the time. Bedford was downstairs, but unaware of the blazing roof until an unidentified youngster notified firemen.

Authorities said the wood frame, wood-sided house was "quite old." Its steep-peaked, shingled roof was hazardous for firemen attempting to douse the blaze.

Fireman Don Gnos slipped — "when they're wet, singles are like glass," a fireman explained—and his hand came in contact with hot material. Gnos was treated at Peninsula Hospital, Burlingame, for second and third degree burns of the left hand.

Off duty fireman Bill Schoening, stepped on a nail, and volunteer John Billings suffered cuts and bruises when the roof gave way beneath him.

when a market takes the stamps away they're taking away a lot more than just stamps.

Blue Chip Stamps are something you sort of take for granted when you do your grocery shopping. In fact you take them so much for granted that you might not even notice when your market stops giving them. You get home. Unpack all the groceries. No stamps. So next week you ask and are told they are no longer giving them. There you are with your half-filled stampbooks and half-filled dreams . . . and you know the stamp people won't give you half a percolator or half a scatter rug. Well, Mayfair still gives stamps . . . Triple Blue Chip Stamps with the above coupon. You see . . . stamps don't cost much. No matter what some folks would have you believe. Blue Chip Stamps cost us about 15¢ on a $10 sale. In other words, the price of a jar of mayonnaise doesn't change a penny with or without stamps. What it really means when a market takes the stamps away is that something else is about to go away too. Sometimes its service. Sometimes hours. Sometimes your choice of brands. When you're asked to save on your own for those things you need around the house a funny thing starts to happen. The small change doesn't add up like the ol' stamp books used to. When the chips are down, just remember, Mayfair is still chipping in . . . with Triple Blue Chip Stamps. It pays to save them.

Torturous Half Decade For Old Yankee Fans

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

FOR US OLD YANKEE FANS, the past half decade has been torturous. We've watched our once all-mighty team dwindle to a position among the common folk. And, sadly, even though the Yankees are now apparently on the upward swing of the pendulum, we know that even when they do next win the pennant and maybe the World Series, the Yankees will never again be the Yankees of old. We all know why it's happened. Expansion and the draft system, putting it simply, prevented the build-up of the once awesome Yankee benches, and the hoarding of young turks willing to play for the price of a pinstripe, and they were finally beaten down to every other team's level of incompetence.

So now, except for a few teams that have gotten lucky and managed to grab on to a gaggle of outstanding ball players all at once, the Yankees are having to scramble for their glory just like the rest of them.

But out of this scramble may emerge another type of Yankee team and another brand of glory, in its own way as awesome as in the days of you-know-who. The Yankees may never again beat all opposition into the ground by mere dint of power, pitching and defense, but they may brush-block them into oblivion with character. For that, apparently, is what manager Ralph Houk — a man of great character, apparently — is instilling in the current team.

RECOUNT WHAT HAS HAPPENED to the Yankees. They finished last season well with a fine group of young players, and were picked by some of the experts as this year's American League dark horse. But look at the record.

Long-time stopper Mel Stottlemyre, for several years considered one of the best right-handers in baseball, is having, for him, a mediocre year. Bill Burbach, a promising rookie starting pitcher in '69, is back in the minors. John Ellis, the catcher-first baseman spring training sensation is on the bench with a lousy record. Second baseman Horace Clark, an established big league hitter, is having one of his worst years.

Last year's shortstop sensation Gene Michael was finally benched recently, and the tremendously talented third baseman Gerry Kenney has been a .200 hitting flop. Curt Blefary, the right fielder for whom Houk traded Joe Pepitone (the last of his primos), has finally been benched after barely managing to hit .200 without his customary homerun power, and the other two outfielders, Roy White and Bobby Murcer, have slowed significantly after sensational beginnings.

To be sure, there have been some compensations. Houk has gotten great relief work out of Lindy McDaniel, Steve Hamilton and Jack Aker. Rookie catcher Thurman Munson, after a slow start, is coming along in fine style, offensively and defensively.

And former Oakland journeyman Danny Cater has been the only consistent Yankee slugger, hitting in the clutch whether he's playing first, third, or the outfield. But that's been about it.

As of August 16, the Yankees were seventh in the league in hitting (only five points away from eleventh), tied for ninth in homers (only eight away from the bottom), fourth in stolen bases, fifth in pitching, and not exactly tearing the league up in defensive statistics.

Yet the team of which it was said might have an outside chance if everything broke right for it, still has an outside chance to overtake Baltimore in its division with hardly anything breaking right for it.

Houk has them hustling and scrambling. With all of their apparent lack of offense, only four teams in the league have scored more runs than they, and only one, Baltimore, has completely outclassed them in that category.

Yes, that's the new Yankees. Not the team that hangs it on 'em, but the team that hangs in.

WE OFTEN TELL THE CRITICS of Willie Mays, the ones who say he should retire gracefully while he still can, that even at his reduced rate of offensive production, he's still more effective than most of the outfielders in baseball.

We offer the following statistical justification to describe just how relative athletic performances are. Many fans and baseball writers in the American League are marveling over the season Al Kaline is having at the advanced age of 35. And he is having a good year. But, although we admit we haven't been able to see him except for a couple of games on television, we KNOW he can't be running the bases or playing right field any better than Mays is running or playing center, and as for the hitting, judge for yourself.

As of the official major league statistics, August 16, both had 96 hits in 347 official trips to the plate for batting averages of .277. Mays had hit 22 homers to Kaline's 13, had driven in 63 to Kaline's 50, and had scored 68 while Kaline had scored 52.

What is really amazing about Mays is that he defies the old saw about players losing their hitting abiilty last. Although, as we have pointed out, Mays still hits well, his hitting, if anything, was the first of his vaunted talents to diminish. His defense is still nearly flawless, and while he hasn't stolen a lot of bases for years, he's still just about as canny on them as he ever was.

CHANGING THE NAME of Candlestick to O'Doul Stadium would, we think, be a mistake. Not only, we understand, did O'Doul hate the stadium, but about the only truly unique thing about the place is its name. Why rob the poor park of its one distinction?

We all know that what's wrong with the Giants, basically, is their pitching, and if you want to know what's wrong with their pitching, note the fact that the Giants staff, almost always among the big league leaders in fewest walks allowed, is this year third worst in the NL in number of batters passed.

Thirty per cent of Willie McCovey's hits this year have been homeruns, which is just about the highest ratio in that category among all the regularly playing power hitters.

There have been big fusses made over Johnny Bench reaching the 100 RBI mark so early in the season, but hardly anything was made of the fact that Bobby Bonds hit the 100 runs scored plateau at about the same time. Or doesn't somebody still have to be on base for a hero to knock him in?

One of the wire services carried a story a couple of weeks ago about burglars striking the clubhouse in the new Cincinnati stadium and extracting $131 from the effects of the players and coaches. That comes to the staggering figure of about $4.37 per man. From this we can draw several conclusions about the Reds: a) Cincinnati management is as cheap as Pete Rose has always claimed it is; b) Professional athletes are as tight-fisted as we've always heard they are; c) Players' wives control the purse strings. All three are good possibilities.

If you're one of the cynics who says that baseball is dying, consider the most recent (at this writing), big league attendance figures:

The National League is up, so far, 816,811, the American League is up 261,254. Nine NL teams have improved over last year's attendance figures to this date, seven AL teams.

Already five teams in the NL are above the million mark (there were only three at the same time last year), two in the AL, same as last season.

Biggest rise in attendance has taken place in Cincinnati — 446,787. Largest gainer in the AL has been California, 215,865.

Biggest loser in the NL is Atlanta, 153,239. Flop champ in the junior circuit is Kansas City (Charley Finley warned us, didn't he?), 161,309.

Locally, the Giants are plus 2,085, the A's minus 22,985. Both clubs are ninth in attendance in their respective leagues. Following tradition, however, the Giants are among the leading road clubs.

LOCAL NOTES: An item in a recent Sporting News notes that localite Rich Morales, the Chicago White Sox utility infielder who was born in San Francisco, raised in Pacifica and made his baseball fame in Daly City, is, according to teammates, managerial material. "A real student of the game," they say.

The release of veteran flanker Joe Koontz by the Giants, recently, put into retirement the second half of San Francisco State's once most deadly one-two punch pass receiving combination. Koontz's partner, Jefferson grad Ed Larios, recently accepted a position at Oceana as head track and wrestling coach and assistant football coach after a brief association with the Atlanta Falcons as a tight end. Koontz and Larios starred for the '67 Gators.

And finally, in what may be a forever contniuing theme, if you'll remember last week, some light verse on the plight of stadiums:

BAFFLING NUISANCES

There are many fine architects,
On that we must agree,
But the ones who design new stadiums
Always baffle me

There are a lot of nuisances
That truly do appall,
And sometime when space permits,
I will list them all

But the one that I refer to,
I'm sure it bothers you,
Is that the outfield foul lines in baseball
Are often out of view

For the prices they are charging,
And for the reason that you came,
You're entitled, I should think,
To see the entire game

And Now Skyline

CSM's Been Winning Since Its First Year

College of San Mateo's athletic teams have been winning, for the most part, since the institution's beginning in 1922.

Although the total first year enrollment of SMJC was only 35, John Wasley fielded a 17-man Bulldog football team which posted a "perfect" 5-0 record.

It was fitting, then, that the two new colleges of the San Mateo JC District inaugurated their fall athletic programs in a similar vein.

Canada and Skyline Colleges battled down to the wire for the championship of the Western Junior College Soccer Conference with their initial teams last fall. In the process, they left defending champion College of San Mateo in their wake.

Soccer is the only sport in which the three local community colleges compete in the same league. Canada begins defense of its title Sept. 24 at Diablo Valley, while Skyline is at Ohlone and San Mateo at West Valley the same day.

Otherwise CSM participates in the ten sport program of the Golden Gate Conference. As evidenced by the yearly all-sports (or "Iron Man") compilations, the Bulldogs have clearly dominated the league since its establishment in 1962.

Canada College became a charter member of the new Camino Norte Conference in 1968-69.

When Skyline opened its doors last year, it also joined the Camino Norte and, in the same fashion, began CNC competition with basketball and wrestling.

Skyline's wrestling team, under coach Lee Allen, immediately challenged powerful defending champion De Anza for the league title, losing only to the Dons en route to a second place league and fifth in Northern California initial record. The state's wrestling coaches also selected the new Skyline gym as the site of the 1972 Olympic year state JC tournament.

CSM teams will defend four league championships this year.

The Bulldogs welcomed the '70's last spring by winning crowns in track, baseball, and swimming — to go with the water polo title they took in the fall.

Skyline will add cross country and track to its athletic program this year, with the addition of Bob Lualhati to the Trojan physical education staff. (Coaches also serve as instructors in the P.E. divisions of their colleges.)

Fittingly, the first Skyline cross country meet will be a non-league encounter at CSM on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 26.

The athletic programs at Skyline is steadily increasing in scope. As student enrollment increases and new multi-use facilities are completed, additional P.E. instructor-coaches are being added to their staffs.

While College of San Mateo currently participates in all 12 sports of the California JC athletic program (including gymnastics, which is not yet in a local conference), Skyline has now expanded to offer eight sports.

All three district colleges compete in soccer, basketball, wrestling, tennis, and baseball. Skyline (and CSM) also offer cross country, track, and golf.

New Slow Pitch Loop In Pacifica

The Pacifica Park, Beaches and Recreation Department issued a summary of last week's men's and women's slow pitch baseball action.

It follows:

Men's Slow-Pitch League Forming — The Park, Beach, and Recreation Department will sponsor a fall Slow-Pitch Softball League, to be played on either Saturdays or Sundays. It will get underway the weekend of September 26 -27.

Rats Champs; Swim Pool Unavailable

The Rollingwood Rats are the fifth and sixth grade softball champions of San Bruno.

The Rats displayed their championship form by defeating Crestmoor, 17-7, for the league title and later traveled to City Park to demolish Decmia Allen, also 17-7.

The City of San Bruno Recreation Department announces signups in boy's wiffle ball and basketball. Boys in sixth, seventh and eighth grades and high school are urged to sign-up. The wiffle ball league will consist of three man teams and will be played inside the gym on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday, 1-3 p.m.

K. Roberts Wins Coast Singles Title

Kevin Roberts of Pacifica outlasted Tom Rosenberry of Pacifica 6-2, 6-2 to win the Men's Singles title in the annual Pacifica Tennis Tournament. Thirteen-year-old Kim Mark from San Carlos beat her mother Lillian Mark in the Women's Singles final match in a long 6-3, 7-5 duel.

The tennis-playing Mark family also captured the Boy's 12 and Under Singles division as Glenn Mark won out over Ned Braly 6-0, 6-0 and Dean Mark beat David Hyman 6-2, 6-0 in the Boy's 13-18 yr. Singles division.

Richard Babb and Frank Bell, both former Skyline College players, outlasted Kevin and Ken Roberts, 6-3, 6-1 in the Men's Doubles final match.

High Schoolers

Two Way Tie In DC League

The High School Softball League, sponsored by the Daly City Recreation Division, has a two-way tie for first place as the league goes into the final week of play. The Seals and Local Yokels are tied for first place with identical four and one records.

With four playoff spots to be filled, the Seals and Local Yokels along with the Flavor Grabbers are certain for the playoffs with the other spot to be fought out between the remaining teams.

Mike Lindsey's three homers powered the Local Yokels to a 12 to 8 win over the Flavor Grabbers. Don Thuener and Wayne Pinomaki each hit solo homers to back Lindsey. Gary McLane and Greg Bodmer accounted for four runs in vain for the Flavor Grabbers.

A nine-run rally in the seventh inning led the Seals to a 12 to 9 triumph over the Do-Bees. George Reid's three-run homer accounted for the winning runs in that rally. Ralph Sands and Jim Frassett backed Reid by accounting for four runs with their bats. Ed Russell again led the Do-Bees with two towering home runs.

M. PAULINE BROWN
(Leslie Fambrini)

All the M. Pauline Brown regulars showed up for the last big special event of the summer — the Pauline Brown Tye-Dye Day. Everybody brought an old shirt and had it dyed in their favorite color. They all turned out great!

Last week's good citizen of the week was Denise Skarlanic, who cleaned up the playground after last week's special event. We have all had a great time this summer on the playground. For all those who have participated in all the events at M. Pauline Brown School this summer — a big goodbye! For all those who did not come down to the playground, we will look forward to seeing you next summer!!

OLYMPIA SCHOOL
(Larry Becher)

Climaxing a great fog belted summer, Olympia staged its final tournaments of chess and checkers. Chess winners were the inevitable repeaters, John McHugh in first, Joey Borelli in second, and Pinky Gins in third.

The Checkers Tourney event went to Lynn O'Connor in first, Karen Toner, second, and Bob Bonomi, third.

Highlighting our last field trip to Thornton Beach, under clouds of darkness, were the vocal cords of Ray Restivo, the agile legs of Billy Stack, and the card tricks of Pat O'Gorman.

SKYLINE SCHOOL
(Mike Macia)

The winner of the bike race at Skyline School was the team of Dave Brown, Dominic Tanterelli, Cary Candau, and Todd Edington. In special running races, the fastest runners were found to be Johnthan Jassen, Steve Satties, and Lori Mattea. The float for Circus Maximus came along, thanks to the help of Faith Frazitta, Karen Gesstle, Marty Lopez, and all the kids who were in it on Circus Fun-day.

PANORAMA
(Steve Roche)

Bart Howard played Peter Pan in the recent Circus Maximus. Other leading characters in the Fairy-Taled themed Fun-Day were Bonnie Devlin as Wendy and Frank Puccetti as Captain Hook. The Fairy Tale for Panorama was Peter Pan, and all of the supporting cast dressed as Captain Hook's Pirates.

The Panorama three-man Hunch League was completed, with the Rams emerging as the champs. The team consisted of such stars as Jonny Calonico, Bobby Gradwohl, Sam Anrioli, and Tommy Di Martini.

Panorama also completed its softball season by loosing to Colma School. Stars throughout the season were Dave Ginilo, Frank Puccetti, Mike Gradwohl, Tony Barnes, and Steve Barnes. All of these ball players were instrumental in leading the team to a losing but hard fought record of 4 and 5.

F. D. ROOSEVELT
(Robert Toledo)

Last week got underway with a ping pong tournament on Monday. The winners were Clay Troyler, Bobby Tolleson, Barbara Ernst. Other outstanding performers were Robin Green, Donna Ernst, Al Ernest, Debbie Ernst, John Profeit and Don Nelson.

Friday started with a carrom's tournament. The winners were Clay Troyler, Mike Jasey, Barbara Ernst, Al Ernst and Debbie Ernst. At this point of the summer, Clay Troyler looks like the outstanding athlete. He has won all tournaments held and currently holds three physical fitness records.

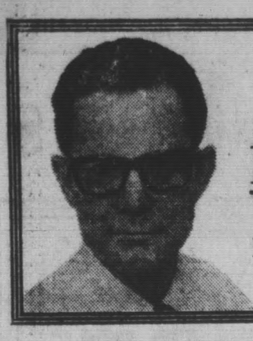

Chins, 9, 440—54 sec., 50 yd. dash — 6.3 The Ernst Family is also very impressive. Barbara, Donna, Al and Debbe either hold or share some record in physical fitness and all have done well in the tournaments.

A LOT HAS BEEN said about little Benny Bufano —good and bad. But, regardless of what type of character he was, or whether you liked his works or not, he was known by people throughout the world, big and small. A week before his death at the hands of an insane gunman, Senator Robert F. Kennedy appeared at the San Francisco Press Club and made a point of seeking out his friend, Benny, seated at a front row table. They briefly talked about things in general. News of RFK's death stunned Benny. He immediately made plans to present his well-known "anti-gun" statue — a tribute to RFK made from guns turned into the city with "no questions asked."

AND IT WAS a top secret at the Press Club when one of the housecleaning woman accidently broke a small statuette of Benny's while cleaning his room two years ago and threw away the pieces. Press clubbers lived in fear of the little guy's wrath for weeks lest he discovered. Come to think of it, I wonder if he ever did find out??

THAT U.S. CENSUS COUNT, which came out far lower than Daly City thought it would (from some 65,000 to 62,000) will cost the city about $60,000 in State subventions in coming months. The county is marshalling its arguments to reinstate the higher figure.

DALY CITY'S MERCHANTS look like the guys in the White Hats after offering to pick up more than their share of the budget deficit this year. Matter-of-fact the offer they made last week to the City Council during a study session made it awfully hard for the city to turn down their proposal.

It goes to show: the merchants are (at least most of 'em) willing to relieve some of the tax burden and work with the city on accomplishing this end.

Now it's up to homeowners to shop in local stores—those that know what the homeowners' tax bite feels like and are willing to share in it.

A Lack Of Food Information

By JOHN HORGAN
Post-Times Writer

San Mateo County, one of the most affluent areas in these United States, has its share of hungry people, too.

They may not be many in number but their plight is quite real nevertheless.

According to Milt Shields, a director of the Office of Economic Opportunity Program here, a major reason for this condition is a lack of information about federal programs to supplement one's daily food supply.

He estimated this week that more than 3,700 households in the county are already using the government's food stamp program. But, he said, that figure just scratches the surface.

He said that as many as "three or four times" that number could avail themselves of what the food stamp program can offer.

In order to spread the word about the stamps, Shields explained that the EOC has set up an informational program which will employ four field workers from Daly City to East Palo Alto. Their job, beginning next month out of Redwood City's EOC offices, will be to go into underprivileged communities, explain the salient facts about food stamps and then facilitate the people's moves to obtain the stamps.

The new effort is called the "Emergency Food Program."

"This will stimulate action on the part of persons who were unclear about the stamps or who didn't know anything about them at all," Shields said.

"There are a lot of misconceptions about the program and this ought to help greatly in clearing them up."

He said that many elderly people are failing to use the stamps for a variety of reasons. Among these reasons: A lack of transportation (only certain banks presently give out the stamps); a fear that red tape will bog down their applications for assistance; a dread that there is a welfare-type stigma attached to it; and, a lack of knowledge about the requirements for aid.

What was happening until just recently on the Coastside is an example of the problems of the elderly.

Shields said that aged persons in remote rural areas like Pescadero, Moss Beach and certain parts of Half Moon Bay had to take public transportation across the mountains to Redwood City if they wanted to buy food stamps. That situation has since been rectified. A bank in Half Moon Bay has lately taken over the function of selling the stamps there.

The stamps are administered by the Federal Department of Agriculture. And, Shields said, the rules governing their sale and use have been liberalized of late. A person now can buy $20 worth of the stamps twice a month rather $40 just once a month as before. Many indigent families can't scrape $40 together in one lump at any time, let alone at food-buying time, Shields said.

In addition, there is hope that some select community organizations like the NAACP and others might become places where the needy could purchase stamps. At present, Crocker-Citizens Bank and the Bank of America are the only facilities that sell them.

Shields noted that this emergency informational program will be a 21-month effort. Specific areas to be covered by the four field workers are: The North County, San Mateo, Redwood City, and East Palo Alto.

The program has been funded by $75,000 worth of federal monies, he said.

A similar program has been highly successful in Alameda County, Shields said.

Tri-Polar Power

JAMES HALLEY

Post-Times Columnist

Twenty-five years have passed since Hiroshima and Nagasaki, and we are still here. Restraint, of a sort, has enabled men to continue to live, but, as time goes on, danger mounts. This is occasioned by changes in technology, expansion of arsenals, and the development of atomic competence by additional nations.

While possession of one atomic bomb by one small nation is a matter of grave (and what an appropriate word that is) concern, the form of world force is largely shaped by the super-powers. These are the nations that possess a stockpile of nuclear weapons in large quantity and the delivery systems and vehicles needed to use them.

For about a decade, the United States stood alone as the world's only super atomic power. During this period we were reasonably free from the concern of direct attack by an equal and, had our own motives been different, we might have shaped another kind of world.

Because of the lag of information and communication, a specific date cannot be designated, but at some point in the mid-fifties Russia attained similar status. Suddenly, we lived in a bi-polar world, one in which our handling of atomic force was not the ultimate answer. From that moment two nations controlled sufficient power, and the lives of hundreds of millions depended on what both nations did.

The long perspective of history will disclose the reality of bi-polar power. When Russia and the United States have agreed on a course of action, that course has been followed.

Current examples of such agreement are the detente in the Near East and progress in the SALT talks. But when the two super powers have disagreed, or have not pressed for the same end, conflict and sometimes chaos have resulted.

Whatever the tensions and risks, we have gone through fifteen years of bi-polarism without an atomic holocaust. Practice and precedent give hope that a two power world could handle the bomb for years to come.

But international patterns seldom remain static. During the past two decades many nations have experimented with atomic technology, and several have developed explodable fusion or fission devices. Until recently, none have presumed upon the role of super-power, but now China approaches this status.

Her emergence as a full participant (absent a preemptive strike by Russia or the United States) may require additional years, but just as surely as Russia passed the point of relative equality, China will do the same. When this occurs, all will be changed and the world will be forever different, for suddenly instead of a balance between two powers, an uneasy equilibrium with three participants must endure if we are to live.

For those who like games, the difference between two and three players is readily understood. In a three-handed game, a constant vigilance must be maintained, or two are apt to crush one. The same watchfulness and adroitness will be required in the new tri-polar world by each of the major powers.

And, with this next change rushing at us, we should ask if the United States is ready to enter the new game. Considering our present state of mind, the answer must be in the negative. For, with our love of philosophic simplicity, our people yearn for direct and immutable formulas to govern our relationships with others.

The larger body of thought forgets nationalism and lumps China and Russia together as parts of a single communist bloc. Fear of monolithic Communism obliterates remembrance that the teachings of Lenin are to be found in print, but not in the real world of people and power, and that each alleged communism has grown into its own brand of totalitarianism. This fear is not practical in a tri-polar situation, for if carried into practice it would place us in a rigid and lone position during the entire game.

Another body of faddish thought has it that Russia and China are natural enemies and can be relied upon to brawl with one another. This theory maintains that these nations will eventually have the big war, and that our sole play is to stay out of the game.

Still others believe that the love of peoples will overcome all danger. These persons unfortunately forget that we must deal with the leadership of China and Russia, and that this leadership has yet to immerse the world in love.

Chinese spokesmen recently articulated a more sophisticated view. After the usual denouncements of both the United States and Russia, they warned that Russia and the U.S. differ with one another and cooperate with one another as circumstances dictate. Russian polemics have more and more leaned toward such ambivilance.

As our governmental system is highly responsive to popular whim, our people should now be getting ready for the new three power world. The old conceptions will soon be irrelevant indeed. We should be prepared to act as a clever, cynical, tricky, and devious participant in the biggest three-handed game known to man. That we have no affection for either of the other players should not influence our will to play the game well for our very lives will depend upon it.

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

DIETING, one of America's greatest preoccupations, has given rise to various organizations and all types of diets, pills, and exercises.

Now, Theodore Isaac Rubin has written a book entitled Forever Thin which explores the psychological aspects of the overweight individual. He has based the book on his own personal experiences and on those of his patients. The purpose of the book is to enlighten the individual as to why he overeats so that he can control his eating habits.

The author uses the term obesity for the psychological condition which causes overeating leading to overweight. He defines anyone as overweight, who for a period of ten years, at sometime in his life, has maintained a weight 10 per cent over the normally accepted weight for his height.

He divides the population into three psychological categories:

1. The Obese; 2. The Obesethins (self controlled) 3. The True-thins (those without weight or overeating problems). The category of the obese personality is the concern of the author, and the obese-thin is the hoped for product.

In order that the reader might understand the obese personality, Dr. Rubin describes the following characteristics:

1. A mental involvement with food always present in the mind.

2. A continual awareness of (either attraction to or avoidance of) scales and mirrors.

3. The lack of an unconscious alarm system of when enough food is enough.

4. A concentration of feelings, appetites and sensations of the mouth.

5. Addicton to food leading to continual eating until all of the food is gone.

6. A cycle of lose-gain wieght phases.

7. A chronic underlying depression leading to self-hate, more overeating and more depression.

According to Dr. Rubin, the psychological state of obesity is a neurosis or sickness which can be controlled and conquered only through the individual's own insight and self-awareness. Until such time as the individual delves into his unconscious compulsion and learns to control it, he will continue through the lose-gain cycle, with a possible greater weight gain with the passing of each cycle.

THE OBESE PERSONALITY may have its beginning even before the individual's birth by being born into a family which is preoccupied with food. When this is combined with anxieties developed through such things as overprotection or emotional deprivation, the neurotic behavior of overeating may be established. Food becomes a symbol for the individual through his parents' use of food as a teaching device and through the parents' own emotional expression in their eating habits. Food may represent love, admiration, fear, reward, punishment, etc. People who have a feeling of inadequacy may use overeating and the laying on of fat as a method of separating themselves from the rest of the world.

The obese personality is highly dependent and frustrations and disappointments are deeply felt. Because of his dependency status, he represses his feelings of anger rather than threaten his relationships with others.

This repression leads to even greater anger which produces anxiety and more eating. The dependency factor leads to role playing among his family members. To change this role is a threat to both he and the family. His family may unconsciously discourage weight loss due to this threat. The author emphasizes that underlying the obese personality is a basic fear of becoming thin.

Letters to the Editor

'A Misinformed Perspective'

Editor, The Post:

In a featured article written by your reporter Bob Peterson in which he heads the article "As I See It," I can frankly state that he sees it in a very misinformed perspective and misinformed information when he refers to the fire department stacking the fire station with manpower.

He mentions that the city has held a fire rating of three (3) since 1953 and is hoping soon to hear it has retained this rating. Also he mentioned that to get this rating in years past it was not necessary to pay up to $20,000 in overtime.

I feel that Mr. Peterson didn't use good judgment in not contacting me and getting the correct information which I have never failed to give the press and their representatives.

The plain facts are these:

We were last graded by the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau in 1953, at which time the city was only 26,000 in population, and greatly less in commercial and industrial value. In 1953 as now, the requirement of manpower and equipment by the Insurance Rating Bureau was based on population, value and type of city.

When a city is graded, it is usually customary to regrade that city within a period of ten years or sooner, or because of unusual big fire loss, or reports of ten years or sooner, or because of unusual big fire loss, or reports of inadequate administration. In the meantime the Rating Bureau does not change the rating and in order to do so it has to come in and regrade.

It has been seventeen years since the grading of 1953 and since that time our city has grown to approximately 47,000 population and approximately $194,000,000 of assessed valuation, which includes many more occupancies of hazardous chemical plants, flammable liquids and other hazardous explosives and toxics. Then too, because of the tremendous fire losses occurring throughout our country, because of civil disturbances, etc, the insurance companies are raising insurance rates similar to having raised the automobile insurance rates because of the tremendous losses, and now the insurance companies are requiring stiffer requirements for fire protection.

The recommended manpower and equipment by the Insurance Rating Bureau today greatly exceeds the requirements of 1953.

Today, because of the industrial type of city we are, we should have not less than five men on an engine company and not less than six men on an aerial or truck company.

With our present manpower with the help of overtime, we have managed to maintain three men and sometimes four men on our engine companies but still only one (1) man instead of the required six men on our aerial.

Every year I bring out these facts to our city officials and request the much needed manpower. In lieu of the manpower, I've been allowed to use overtime, which used to be more economical than putting on manpower, however today because of increased vacations, injuries and sick leave, it is absolutely necessary to add the manpower. This was just recently proven and justified to our city officials at our budget session a few weeks ago, where I asked for five additional men instead of three as offered me, and the press was at that budget study session. In fact one of the press quoted my conversation to the council.

My men are asking for a 56-hour week and I approve of this 56-hour week, provided I get the manpower to compensate for these shorter hours. This means adding four more men for the 56-hour week plus the five men needed for vacations, sick leave and injuries, making a total of nine men needed.

True we were just graded and frankly we won't know how we will fare for at least four more months. As I mentioned earlier, today because of great fire losses all over the nation, the grading is much tougher than it was in 1953. However if we should lose our good Class 3 rating, which I hope won't happen, it will be mainly because of our present lack of manpower.

I also resent the statement made by your reporter, Mr. Peterson, that our firemen hang around the fire station to impress a fire rating inspector. This is not so, as their presence is very much needed and I don't believe this remark by Mr. Peterson was necessary.

JOHN A. MARCHI,
South San Francisco.

'Too Much Knowledge...'

Editor, The Post:

Too much knowledge may be ruin. The same could be said of bias reporting. I am referring, of course, to Bob Peterson's article in The Post of August 12. His statement, "Will the politically powerful Firemen obtain their 56 hours?" leaves much to be desired from an otherwise adequate reporter. If Bob wishes to further the cause of unbiased reporting a little research would reveal the following:

Both safety departments in South San Francisco theoretically work an eight day cycle schedule. During the course of a year the Police come out with 40 hours and the Firemen with 60 hours, weekly.

In actuality this is not so. This little known fact is what the firemen have been trying to correct for years, so that we would have true parity. Police at present actually work 35½ hours, but are paid for 40 hours.

They receive 45 minutes for meals which are usually spent with their families. They are rarely interrupted and discussion in the past, of adding on this time to their work schedule, to achieve a true 40-hour week has never been successful. We, on the other hand, are frequently interrupted for any minor detail and are not permitted to spend our's with the family. We are required to give 60 hours exclusively for the taxpayers' convenience, plus the added expense of separate meals.

If Mr. Peterson's statement were true we would be asking for a 35½ hour week, not 56. The police personnel is greater in numbers than the fire department. Mr. Peterson is evidently unaware of the Supreme Court's decision — one man — one vote!

Knowing the caliber of the men in both departments, I doubt that the taxpayers of South San Francisco will ever be faced with a strike of their safety members. To quote from a previous article of mine, that The Times was so kind to print, Professionals do not have to scream to be heard in a crowd, but they do have to get involved in government and local community affairs if they want to be heard above the crowd.

The firemen did decide to get involved and support men of true common sense quality who would be fair, not only to them, but to all the taxpayers. Because we are trying to improve our working conditions the real American Way, without violence or strikes, we should not be degraded by uninformed reporters. Not all of the firemen supported the winners of the past election. In fact some of them and their wives are still supporting the losers.

But all of us are dedicated with our prime concern. To give the best possible service to the people of our community. Any public safety employee who resorts to strikes or work stoppages at the expense of his City, does not deserve to be called a dedicated Professional Fire Fighter of Police Officer. Webster's definition of a Hypocrite would be more appropriate.

Regardless of the outcome of our present negotiations, many of us believe, that the backing of an informed electorate looking at our city officials on their home grounds is the only way to go, if we are to preserve our American way, with sanity.

Newspaper reporting without the "digs" to create animosity between groups, and or the public, would much be appreciated.

PAUL TOGNETTI,
Firefighter,
South San Francisco.

Soroptimists Post New Directors

Luncheon at the California Golf Club in South San Francisco was the setting for the installation of new officers for the Soroptimist Club of North San Mateo County.

A Most Attractive Mine Site

Louanne Heath's Datebook

THE YOUNG AMERICAN MINE sits halfway up the side of a steep incline on what has to be one of the most attractive sites ever selected for mining.

The east side of the Sierra Buttes rises jaggedly and with extreme abruptness. The sides resemble granite carved by a clumsy stonecutter. Cracks and sharp angles abound. Only silghtly above the start of the steepest section there is an overhung cliff of dark earth and rock skirted and topped with pine and fir. The cliff turns its back on the Buttes. The shape of the face is semi-circular as though providing the back drop for a huge amphitheater, and before it, forming the plateaus for the orchestra and loge sections, are two lakes of extreme blueness and a coldness that can hardly be overstated.

The Upper Sardine lake is a small hollow, a rock bowl surrounded by hardy brush and delicate wild azalea. Upper and Lower Sardine Lakes are connected by a narrow stream that cascades into an attractive waterfall which is practically obscured from view by the thick forest that grows close to its sides.

There is a road between the two lakes but it is now practically impassible to all but foot traffic for its chief purpose for existing, to link the Young American Mine with the flatter land below, is no longer a valid reason.

THE MINE ITSELF sits on a barren outcropping on the east side of the stream. The buildings are dilapidated and gray but they seem to blend naturally into their surroundings, low green growth studded at intervals with the silver gray trunks of giant ponderosa pines, long dead but still imposing and attractive.

The setting sounds like an artist's paradise and almost everyone who passes this way must pause and record what they see on film. But the reason for the popularity of this spot is one of those paradoxes so common to the mining country. The mining that despoiled so much of the land and created such ugliness also brought the mining counties their first and greatest prosperity. The mines have now become historically significant and attract the curious. The vacationers are causing a rebirth of the area, via tourism. People come to view the remains of the great goldrush, they see a new type of beauty and they stay to put to new uses the wasted forests.

When mining occurs the rock from which the ore has been extracted is discarded along with the useless rock which has been pushed aside. These piles of displaced rock are called tailings and many such piles are visible along the route of Highway 49.

THE OPERATORS of the Young American mine piled their tailings along the south side of the mine, where they formed a jumbled mound that followed the slope of the hill downward toward Lower Sardine Lake. For a period, no one thought anything about the discarded quartz but new methods of extracting gold were being developed all the time. Some of the chemical processes were far more efficient than the earlier means of milling the quartz had been.

Finally one of these new methods, the cyanide process, was employed upon the discarded tailings from the Young American mine.

The milled and low grade quartz left behind by the earlier operation were reprocessed and during the business of extracting that last measure of gold from the reluctant rock a large depression was created in the flat immediately below Lower Sardine Lake. The washed quartz was now powder fine, white sand and the oval hole produced as a side product of the cyanide processing filled with water to form a huge pond, a natural swimming pool.

SO, IN 1970, WHEN PEOPLE come to Sierra County's lake basin to see the remnants of a bygone era, their children look and see the finest swimming hole this side of a Mark Twain tale and, forgetting the history they have come to absorb, they come back, summer after summer, to camp and swim at Sand Pond.

Pacifica Jaycette Officers Seated

At the recent Pacifica Jaycees' installation, their women's auxiliary, the Jaycettes, gave their new officers an enthusiastic send-off to what is expected to be a busy year.

Installing officer and past president, Mrs. Nancie Feeney presented the outgoing officers—Mrs. Donna Drew, Mrs. Judy Lemler, Mrs. Joan McLain, Mrs. Adrienne Rieweerts, and Mrs. Mary Williams — with their past officers pins.

She then installed each new officer — Mrs. Lisa Mock, first vice-president; Mrs. Betty Palmrose, second vice-president; Mrs. Joan Addleman, secretary; Mrs. Corliss Logan, treasurer.

Outgoing president, Mrs. Donna Drew installed the Jaycettes' new prexy, Mrs. Judy Lemler.

Four women also received awards during the evening. Mrs. Brenda King was named Outstanding Chairman for her hard work as just that the past year.

Surprised, Mrs. Betty Palmrose, when named Key Girl, said, "There are many 'key girls' in this organization, and that's why working hard and enthusiastically with the Jaycees and Jaycettes is easy and fun."

Mrs. Drew gave a special award to one of her officers — the "good-egg" award went to Mrs. Lemler. A special honor, that of Honorary Jaycette, was presented to Mrs. Feeney in appreciation for her service to the Jaycettes in the years since the founding.

Only one other such award has been presented by this group. Mrs. Wally Sharp is the only other recipient.

Ray Giusti Yard Wins DC Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Giusti of 191 W. Moltke are recipients of the Daly City Garden Club garden of the month award.

The front of their home is beautifully landscaped with tuberous begonias planted against a background of junipers. A good example of what can be done in small areas to beautify the home as well as the street is seen here.

One can enjoy the beauty and serenity of the rear garden from an inviting bench near the lily pond; in cool weather,

REIDAR H. (Ray) WINTHER, Rotary District 513 governor, aill address the Daly City Rotary Club and confer with club president Jack R. Erickson, secretary Max Kurtz and other officers at 12:15 p.m. September 2 at the Lake Merced Golf and Country Club, Colma.

THE MARQUEE

Sweaty Palms Excitement In Film

By the time Arthur Hailey's sprawling novel "Airport" had been committed to film, the book had been on the best selling lists for 65 weeks. In both mediums, the plots were overproduced with so many people getting into the action, you had subplots growing out of subplots.

Director-writer George Seaton sorts them out in fairly reasonable fashion so that this adventure-love story comes off with maximum impact and some strong cameo performances.

I even liked Dean Martin, whom you'll have to admit is hard to take seriously. Here he's a central character, the senior pilot of a commercial jetliner at odds with his brother-in-law, Burt Lancaster who just happens to be the manager of a major airport.

Husbands, faithful and unfaithful; wives, bitter and sweet; girl friends, pregnant and just playing around; officials, uptight and philosophical; the man on the street and the little old lady who is the Artful Dodger of the Geritol set in getting free stowaway trips out of the country, take up the bulk of the film's concern. The cast list is an impressive filmland Who's Who and while none of the acting styles jibe, and there is both stereotyped and offbeat casting, the movie holds a lot of punch and you'll get the full force of it before the final reel.

Van Heflin is a plus factor as an ex-mental patient carrying a bomb (although not enough explosives to do the job efficiently) and a quarter-million dollars of flight insurance. Maureen Stapleton is the heavyweight of the cast, called upon to portray a distraught, near hysterical wife of Heflin who knows he's down-on-his-luck, has a psychological problem and misses him just at take-off time. Between the two, you'll get sweaty palms before the plane leaves the ground.

ONCE IN THE AIR, you'll feel the panic and deep-gut fear as the captain coerces Helen Hayes, the quick-slip artist who loves to take free trips, to divert the attention of her seat partner, Heflin, so they can divest him of his lethal briefcase. It's redundant to call her a consummate actress but it's obvious that she steals the picture from the more pedestrian performers.

Actually the picture belongs to George Kennedy (my currently favorite actor) who telescopes the action by explaining the mechanics and stress factor of a Boeing 707 once the authorities discover the danger. He's the cigar chewing tough guy, determined to race the motors of a mired plane and extricate it from snow-logged runway (at the risk of ripping a multi-million dollar plane in two) who gives hope that a full load of passengers will survive a bomb plot.

I'll mention all the stars because Universal obviously felt they'd help sell the Technicolor-Todd AO melodrama: Jean Seberg, Jacqueline Bisset, Barry Nelson, Dana Wynter, Lloyd Nolan, Barbara Hale and scores of others. I'm convinced, the Ross Hunter production would draw without all this hoopla because people are drawn to the macabre and love being scared out of their wits.

Last Week For Contest At Westlake

This is the last week in which to turn in coloring booklets in Westlake Shopping Center's annual Back-To-School Coloring Contest.

More than 20,000 booklets have already been delivered to the judging committee and the final "push" is still to come. Deadline for entries is 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, August 31.

The contest will provide $750 in prizes to children in school grades one through eight. Prizes include talking Barbie Dolls, Double Dare Hot Wheel Sets, Mod Watches, Transistor Radios, $400 in Merchandise Orders and the grand prize — a beautiful, portable Television Set.

All a child has to do to enter the Back-To-School Coloring Contest, which has an early American history theme, is to visit any Westlake Shopping Center store and pick up (no purchase necessary) an official contest book.

Color the entire book with any media desired and turn in the completed book to a Westlake contest girl, located in The Mall, between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. daily, except Sunday Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Contest rules are printed on inside front cover of each official contest booklet.

No mailed entries will be accepted. Children or parents must turn in the coloring contest books in person.

Traffic Isle For South S.F.

South San Francisco councilmen have confirmed that a traffic island is necessary, as originally proposed, at the intersection of El Camino Real Frontage Road and Arroyo Drive.

Widening of El Camino was thought to present a problem by cutting off traffic to several stores in the area, plus make it difficult for trucks from a nearby fire station to enter onto El Camino.

After meetings involving the property owners in the area, the state division of highways and police and fire officials, it was determined the island was necessary to safe traffic flow.

In addition, the councilmen authorized the installation of a $5,000 signalization pre-emption system to stop all traffic on El Camino and Arroyo Drive when fire trucks are called out.

Magnolia Center Has A New Look

The Magnolia Recreation Center, Grand and Magnolia Avenues, South San Francisco is taking on a new look these days with the help of 12 Neighborhood Youth Corps boys.

The young workers are eagerly attacking the stubborn, hard packed soil by the fence on the Grand Avenue frontage. By hard work and the magic of landscaping the black top parking lot will be screened by a row of shrubs along the fence and a row of street trees along the curb. Bare dirt around the trees will be paved with bricks.

Large sections of concrete pipe will be used for planters along the side of the building. They will be filled with a variety of trees, shrubs and flowers. Additional shrubs will be planted around the building in front and on the Magnolia side. About 259 trees and shrubs from the City Nursery will be planted to complete this project.

Located in the lawn area on the corner will be a 12-foot long redwood sign in a raised brick planter which will identify the Magnolia Recreation Center and list the major activities in the building, the Chamber of Commerce, Senior Citizens Club and Teen Center.

The project is providing jobs and training for youth and improving the appearance of a well-known landmark on a major intersection. The old school has been owned by the City for the Recreation and Park Department as well as a busy center of community activities.

When the opportunity arose to use the Youth Corps boys, Robert Maxey, Superintendent of Recreation and Parks, requested and received authorization by City Council to purchase essential materials to do the project. Landscape Specialist, John Hoffman and his assistant, Sue Lundburg, a recent graduate of the University of California School of Landscape, quickly prepared a landscape plan. Park foreman, Guida DeLuca volunteered enough plant material to do the job and provided two Park Maintenance men to supervise the boys.

Park maintenance men supervising the boys are Jack Murray, J. D. McCullough and Al Bianchi.

NYC boys working on the project include Ron Corral, Joe Tel Toro, Mario Franco, Cruz Gomez, Roberto Magdalena, Michael Martinez, Dan Mendez, David Nevarez, Juan Padilla, Mike Penna, and Elick Urtiaga.

New Lions Club Prexy

Mike Marino was installed as first vice president; Darrell Thompson, second vice president; Leonard Goldberg, third vice president; attorney John Crocker, secretary; Basil Cavalieri, treasurer; George Stagnaro, tailtwister; and Dusty Rhoads, lion tamer. Basil Cavlieri is also publicity chairman.

The program began with invocation by Paul Berkmaier, a member of the South San Francisco Lions Club. The officers were installed by deputy district governor of 4C4, Les Davis, also a member of the SSF club.

Awards were given to several members for their many fund-raising programs such as youth welfare and sight conservation.

IT'S A FACT

By JACK WILSON

OPPOSITE POLES

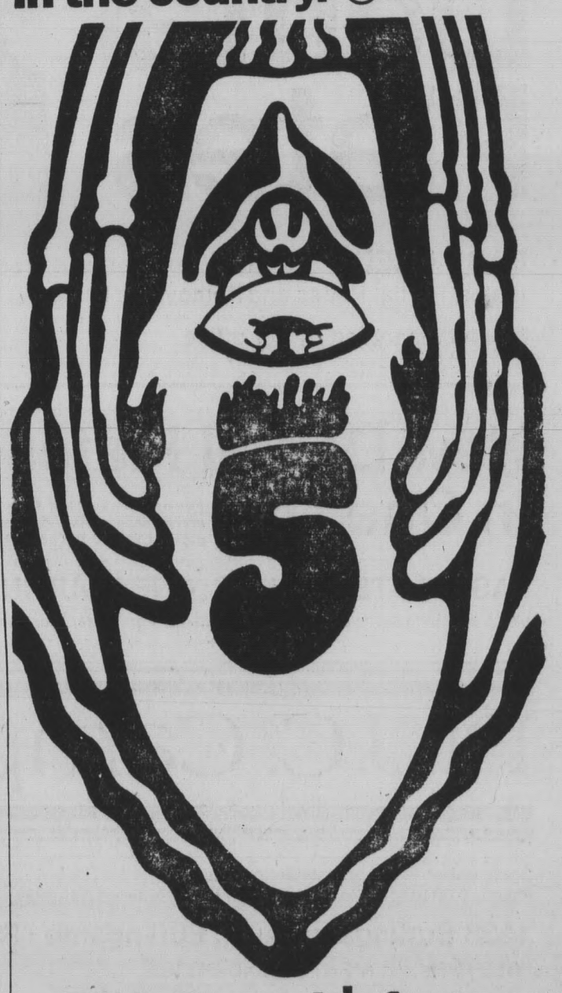

Many people ask why I don't "accent the positive" and avoid attacking the incumbent Congressman, Mr. McCloskey. My answer is this: My positive programs that deal with Vietnam, the economy, crime, drugs, etc., (except for such obviously non-controversial subjects as air and water pollution where we all agree), stand at opposite poles from the incumbant. If you disagree with the incumbant, it is very probable that you will stand in agreement with me in most vital issues. One of my duties as your WRITE-IN CANDIDATE, JACK WILSON, is to reveal to you the radical nature of the incumbant's congressional posture. He is not even a true liberal in the true sense of the word. He is an opportunist who mouths the virtues of individual freedom but who votes and acts to reduce you to mass man. McCloskey is the wrong man, at the wrong time, in the wrong place. To prove this please make checks payable to Wilson for Congress or phone to give help:

Eddie Dennis North Leader For Britschgi

Appointment of former councilman Edward J. Dennis of Daly City as North County chairman of the Democrats for Britschgi Committee was announced this week by Assemblyman Carl A. "Ike" Britschgi, candidate for State Senator.

Dennis recently retired after serving 20 years as a member of the city council of Daly City and as a former mayor of the city.

"Assemblyman Britschgi has an outstanding record in the State Legislature and for 14 years has served as assemblyman from the 26th district," Dennis said, "I feel he is best qualified by experience and ability to represent San Mateo County in the State Senate."

Dennis said that Britschgi knows the problems of San Mateo County, has always worked co-operatively with North County city officials and with his seniority in the legislature he will be able to get "results efficiently and effectively."

"I am urging North County citizens, regardless of party, to vote for Carl A. "Ike" Britschgi for state senator in the November election," Dennis said.

NELL NORTON

GOOD MORNING, GOOD COOKS.

While writing this I'm anticipating a vacation and by the time you read it I'll be back and remembering my vacation. Dear me, how fleeting is time. Expecially vacation time.

Since the cookie jar in most homes is very seldom on vacation, it may be helpful to offer a recipe for some delicious cookies to fill that busy jar.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES

1 cup white sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup shortening, or margarine
1 cup peanut butter
2 eggs
3 cups flour
2 teaspoons soda
2 teaspoons soda
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cream together the one cup each white and brown sugar with the one cup shortening. Add the one cup peanut butter and blend well. Blend in the two eggs. Sift together the three cups flour and two teaspoons soda. Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture and mix. Add the teaspoon vanilla and mix again.

Using a rounded teaspoonful of dough, roll into balls and place on lightly greased cookie sheet. Flatten by pressing with a fork.

Bake in 350-degree oven 10 to 12 minutes. Makes over 6 dozen.

THE NAME OF THE NEXT RECIPE is what attracted my interest, Irish Italian Spaghetti. Since I have a bit of Irish in me and love Italian cooking I was eager to try it. And my family thought it quite good, so I offer it to you good cooks.

IRISH ITALIAN SPAGHETTI

1 medium onion, chopped
3 tablespoons olive oil
1 pound ground beef
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon black pepper
½ teaspoon chili powder
2 drops Tabasco sauce
¼ cup water
1 can cream of mushroom soup
1 can tomato soup
1 8-ounce package spaghetti
½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Heat the three tablespoons olive oil in skillet, cook onion until tender; add the pound of beef and cook stirring until lightly browned. Stir in the teaspoon slat and fourth teaspoon pepper. Mix the half teaspoon chili powder and two drops Tabasco sauce in the fourth cup water and stir into the meat. Mix well, cover and simmer for ten minutes. Stir in the can of mushroom soup and tomato soup. Cover and simmer for 45 minutes, stirring now and then to prevent sticking.

Cook the spaghetti as directed on package. Drain and arrange on serving platter. Top with sauce and sprinkle with the half cup Parmesan cheese.

Serves 4 to 6.

The program included slides and a talk from a representania at Davis. Mrs. French also tive of the University of Californ thanked the San Bruno Rotarians for support of a new 4-H construction proposal.

The speaker from the Davis campus of U.C. explained urbanization attempts on the part of 4-H clubs to become meaningful to the urban community, as well as maintain a loyalty to its agricultural past.

The San Bruno 4-H club is currently rebuilding its facility on property adjacent to the Bel Air School, having been forced to abandon its previous location because of relocation by Pan American Airlines.

Nomination For Award Is Endorsed

Trustees of the Jefferson High School District, headquartered in Daly City, have endorsed, along with the Pacifica City Council, the nomination of Oceana High School special education teacher Phyllis Hoops for the 1971 International Service Award of the Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., Foundation.

Three awards annually are made by the foundation to individuals developing outstanding programs in the identification, care, rehabilitation or education of the mentally retarded.

The initiator of the nomination was Mrs. Virginia Fitzgerald, also of Pacifica, who routed the necessary information to the City Council, via Vice Mayor Mrs. Grace McCarthy. Further endorsement at the county level, through Pacifican Mrs. Jean Fassler, the chairman of the Board of Supervisors, was anticipated this week.

Appointment Appeal Lost

The San Francisco Chapter of the California School Employees Association, which has opposed a personnel appointment in the Jefferson Elementary School District in Daly City, appears to have lost its appeal to Dr. Max Rafferty.

Rafferty, in a letter to Frank Teeter, the CSEA Chapter president, advised:

"It has been my policy for many years to accept the local school board's choice for commission members, unless evidence is presented to me of obvious infitness for the position."

Trustees of the school district recommended a Pacific telephone company executive and former school board member Tom Noonan be appointed to a vacancy on the district's personnel commission.

The CSEA had opposed Noonan's appointment on principles of poor health and a belief his longtime prior association with the Board of Trustees and the district's administration might lead to influence from those directions.

City Posts Are Filled

South San Francisco councilmen have unanimously agreed to four reappointments of various city posts.

Appointments included Ernie Oresti to the city's housing authority, a four-year term, Jack Ferro to the library board, a three-year term, and Joseph Zlatunich and Marcel Campredon to the planning commission for four-year terms.

Mayor Patrick Ahern said it was his intention to reappoint Milton Bronstein to another three-year term on the city's parking place commission, but as yet, has been unable to contact Bronstein to verify if he is interested in continuing to serve. Assuming he does, the appointment will be made at a later date.

Registration In D.C. Urged

Deputy Registrar Helen Villalba has announced she will be available to register voters for the November general election from now until the September 10 deadline.

Hours of registration are from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. on weekdays, from 2 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sundays through September 10.

Man Crushed In DC Mishap

An elderly Brisbane man was crushed to death beneath the wheels of his brother-in-law's car being worked on by a mechanic at a Geneva Avenue service station in Daly City this morning.

Details of the accident were sketchy and police were continuing their investigation of the freak accident.

However, it was learned the victim, Anthony Cuneo, 79, 332 Monterey, had driven into the Gulf service station on Geneva and Rio Verde Avenues to have his car checked.

While attendant Raymondo Ersignez, 29, was working on the inside of the vehicle, checking under the dashboard with the motor running, the car was accidently put into gear by the victim peering in from the driver's side.

The car jumped forward dragging the victim some 25 feet and crushing his head beneath the right rear wheel.

Witnesses said the mechanic disengaged the gear, but it was too late. The victim was pronounced dead on arrival at Mary's Help Hospital.

S. AMERICA WORK

TOPEKA, Kan.—Airman First Class Gary Leo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leo of 36 MacDonald Avenue, Daly City, is a member of a special U.S. Air Force aerial survey team that has been conducting aerial mapping photography in South America.

Airman Leo is a radar repairman with the Air Force's Aerospace Cartographic and Geodetic Service (ACGS), headquartered at Forbes AFB, Kan., which has been flying over the towering, rugged peaks of the Andes Mountains to photograph some 25,000 square miles of the border between Chile and Argentina.

Aerial photography — the end result of the project — may better determine the exact international boundary between Argentina and Chile. Requested by the two South American countries, the project began in late January and was suspended in May because of snow cover and atmospheric conditions. ACGS personnel will return to complete the project in January 1971 when weather conditions improve.

SAFETY RECORD

NOVATO — Sergeant Daryle B. Nicoll, son of Mrs. Barbra L. Nicoll of 1395 Adobe Drive, Pacifica, is a member of an Aerospace Defense Command (ADC) unit that has been recognized for its outstanding safety record.

Sergeant Nicoll is an aircraft mechanic with the 1st Fighter Wing at Hamilton AFB, Calif. His unit won the U.S. Air Force's Flying Safety Award and Missile Safety Plaque.

Application For Rezoning Is Put Over

An application to rezone more than 3.5 acres in unincorporated Colma to permit construction of a new Lucky Store was put over until September 8 August 18 by the county board of supervisors in Redwood City after a letter was received from City Manager David R. Rowe of Daly City complaining the site is to be used for a station for the new Bay Area Rapid Transit system.

The site, on an abandoned portion of A Street between Hill Street and San Pedro Avenue, has been owned by Girolamo Bertucci, 98, for more than 50 years, real estate broker Rico Lagomarsino of Colma reported.

Rowe wrote the county board that a transit station will be needed on the property to serve Pacifica and the western portions of South San Francisco and San Bruno on the other side of Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Lagomarsino claimed Daly City was throwing up "a smoke screen" to protect sales tax revenue from stores within its own boundaries.

The county planning commission, which has recommended the property be rezoned from light industrial to commercial, will examine the application again today.

Supervisors continued their hearing on the application until 2 p.m., September 8, when all members of the county board will be present.

Coast's CCCC Tells Plans For Program

The Community Cultural Coordinating Committee of Pacifica has announced plans for a diversified 1970-1971 program.

For instance, in conjunction with Skyline College of San Bruno, a course on "Everyday Physics" will be offered. Paul Hewitt will conduct the course at the Cabrillo School on Crespi Drive in Pacifica.

"Everyday Physics" deals with the physical movements in the environment that surrounds us each day. It will not delve into the complicated aspects of the study of physics. The course will commence in September and space will be tight. More information can be obtained by consulting the Skyline College catalog.

Other plans include Art classes, classes in the dance, luncheons, speakers and travel oriented movies.

Governale Heads Drive

The Unruh for governor headquarters announced the appointment of Tony Governale to direct the San Mateo County campaign.

Governale, a veteran of numerous political campaigns has served as field representative for Hubert Humphrey's presidential campaign, managed this county's primaries for Robert Kennedy in 1968, headed Pierre Salinger's contest in 1964 and the congressional campaign of the late W. H. Keller.

In addition, he is the past president of the County Democratic Council of Clubs, head of the Rebion IV Political Action Committee, a member of the Northern California Democratic Registration Committee, twice president of the San Bruno Democratic Club and chairman of the 1964 Democratic convention. He was recently elected to the San Mateo County Democratic Central Committee.

Governale served 3 years on San Bruno's Park and Recreation Commission, is a member of the Rotary Club and a Teener League Baseball coach. He is a manufacturers representative of electronic components and a partner in the San Carlos firm of Component Associates.

Waste Disposal

South San Francisco councilmen have agreed to the immediate county plans regarding solid waste disposal, but don't want to be tied to any long-term agreement is for the county to

The proposed city-county agreement iu for the county to plan and coordinate final disposal arrangements to assure long-term availability of disposal sites in the county at reasonable rates.

Reason the South San Francisco councilmen don't want to be tied to any specific time limits is because they want to keep the door open to possible incineration.

Preliminary Work Approved For Airport BART Link

By BOB PETERSON
Post-Times Writer

Peninsula Manufacturers' Association members were told last week official okay has been given for the go-ahead preliminary work on BARTD (Bay Area Rapid Transit District from Daly City to San Francisco International Airport.

Gene Altshuler of Tudor Engineering, and project engineer, and Paul Bay of Wilbur Smith and Associates, the transportation and traffic consultant, addressed the group at the International Inn, South San Francisco.

Altshuler explained that official word had been received Monday from the Department of Transportation and that a year from that date a report will be issued on the findings of best route, cost factors, implementation of the project, etc. He said construction would take from two to three years from actual starting time.

Meanwhile, an "Issues" report will be made within two months in policies and decisions to be made regarding the project. And by the end of six months definite locations should be established.

Bay went into more depth about the project itself. He voiced excitement about the project, allowing it is the first segment of a rapid transit system that possibly could reach from San Francisco down the Peninsula to San Jose and back up the east side of the bay to its point of origination.

"We do have our problems," admitted Bay. He then went on to describe what he considered the benefits of the rapid transit system.

"Mainly it will provide another choice of (transportation) mode," said Bay. He said the new 747 is proving more successful than originally thought and in attracting more passengers necessitates a better ground transportation system.

Bay pointed out that the Oakland Airport has indicated its plan to hook up to the BARTD system.

"San Francisco International Airport is the largest single employment center in San Mateo County," said Bay. "It also is the most important source of economic input to the county. Economically, it can't afford to be left with a lesser access capability."

Bay then showed a series of half-a-dozen slides indicating the possible routes the system may take from Daly City to the airport. The possibilities (now familiar) go through Daly City, Colma, South San Francisco, San Bruno and touches Millbrae.

One suggestion is a route under the Bayshore in subway form to a BARTD terminal. Another is down Southern Pacific tracks over the Bayshore Freeway. The third would go through South San Francisco, down Bayshore and have a station at the United Air Lines maintenance building. Subways under the end of the main runway, and escalators, would be used to transport pedestrians further.

Bay also indicated the possibility the system could some way tie in with the present Southern Pacific system to provide increased rapid transit service. He pointed out there now are only two main arteries from San Francisco to San Mateo County — the Junipero Serra Freeway and the Bayshore Freeway.

Explaining more benefite of the system, Bay said it would open a new market for employment. "People can come from the East Bay without having to drive over the Bay Bridge," he said.

It's also going to change land uses," said Bay. Questioned about what these changes would be, Bay answered that to him it meant a greater potential for new parks.

"Right-of-way will open linear park development. This will improve the environment for residential and high density residential areaas.

"The increased land values and possibility of higher density also will create new commercial developments. "Tanforan (in San Bruno) for example, cannot help but be affected by the system. It is an opportunity to become a focus for new and redevelopment of the northern part of the county and the entire county."

He cited as an example the industrial area of South San Francisco now being oriented to the highway system. "If they should have to expand, they might think of doing it near BARTD," said Bay.

"Of course we need to evaluate many things," he said. "Like what will and can happen and what we want to happen and how all these things can be interrelated. Should it be elevated, a subway system or or grade level? Who will run and operate it? How does San Mateo County get into BARTD? "We need input and reaction from the public to resolve these problems," said Bay.

The question of financing the project was brought up and whether it was intended to institute a tax based on the expected increased value of land to pay for the system.

"This is how Montreal (Canada) is paying for theirs," said Bay. "It is one alternative. Another is to charge air passengers with a surcharge above the normal BARTD fare."

He explained that the present limousine service from San Francisco to the airport is $1.10.

The BARTD cost would be 65 nts, according to Bay. He said n additional 35 cents could be dded to this cost, s ill be heaper than the limousine ervice and have the money go o paying off BARTD construcion.

Projected cost of the eight ile project, "depending on the ype (style) finally agreed upon, vas quoted by Bay as low as 90 million and as high as $150 million.

Who would oppose the roject?

"First of all the person affected by the simple physical problem of BARTD's location," said Bay. "Of course there will be he environmental impact associated with the possibility of higher density. Those who ask, o why does it have to go in. We don't want to pay for it. And really the question of who pays for what and who gets what."

Altshaler commented that, "We will soon find out who will be opposing the project."

San Mateo Councilmen John Murray didn't appear to be that increased with the project, mainly because he didn't feel the south county will benefit that much from it.

"We in the southerly part of the county, from San Mateo south, should look to San Jose, and Santa Clara County," said Murray. He said San Jose is expanding to the point where it will be a major center, and "San Mateo County should look to them rather than what has been traditional—looking to San Francisco for progress and as the hub of activity."

Recheck Insurance Before Starting Motor Vacation

By MURRAY J. BROWN

NEW YORK (UPI) — The car has been lubricated and checken by the mechanic. Mother and the children are belted in. You've made a final check and locked all the doors and windows in the house and garage.

You are ready to go. But first, a quick review. You have your credit cards and traveler checks; arranged for the care of the lawn and family pets; and informed the postman, milkman, newsboy, police, relatives and friends.

In fact, everyone seems to know of the family vacation plans.

But what about your insurance agent? Did you call him, too?

If not, suggests Myron DuBain, a senior vice president for Fireman's Fund American Insurance Cos. of San Francisco, get your agent on the telephone right now. He could help save you time and trouble.

"For example," DuBain said in an interview, "if you are traveling by automobile and are protected by the minimum amount of insurance required in your home state, your policy may not be accepted as security under the financial responsibility statutes in another state. Your agent can check and provide, if necessary, additional coverage."

DuBain noted that if your travel plans include Canada, the problem of being able to demonstrate financial responsibility becomes even greater.

"You must have your liability coverage in order and be able to present proof of insurance upon request," he said. "Although the provinces of British Columbia, Alberta, Manitoba and Ontario do not require such proof upon entering their borders, a minor accident can result in aggravating delays if you find it difficult to demonstrate financial responsibility."

Other provinces in Canada require such proof, DuBain said. This usually takes the form of a government-approved card which is available on request from your insurance agent, he said.

DuBain warned that if you are planning to drive in Mexico, you must see your agent because unless you are properly informed and insured your visit "could turn into a costly nightmare."

"Insurance laws in Mexico are quite unlike those in the United States," he said, "and few U.S. travelers are aware that only insurance companies located in Mexico are recognized by Mexican law."

In addition, he said, contracts of insurance written by non-Mexican companies are not in force while driving in Mexico. Some U.S. insurance companies provide policies with a "Mexican auto endorsement" but these are meaningless, he said.

"As a matter of record, the government of Mexico resents this practice and contends that U.S. companies should not extend coverage in a country where they are not licensed to do business or adjust claims," DuBain said.

He said the U.S. motorist could run into "real trouble" if involved in even a minor accident in Mexico.

DuBain stressed he was not suggesting U.S. motorists cancel auto varations through Mexico, only that they have their agents purchase insurance from Mexican companies for the duration of their visit.

Here are some other tips from DuBain:

If you are planning to travel by rental car, make sure to read the clauses in the agreement concerning insurance coverage. Some have restrictions that might deny coverage under certain circumstances.

Two favorite vacation cottages for outdoor lovers are the 1970 Ford F-250 and F-350 Camper Specials. The F-350 (top) is shown with a four-door "crew cab," which is available as an option. The F-250 is below. Both have the special equipment necessary for hauling campers.

S.J. Ford Plant Retools

Ford Motor Company has announced that assembly of 1970 model passenger cars at its San Jose plant here closed July 24 to prepare for production of Ford Division's entry in the small car field, the 1971 Pinto.

The first Pinto is expected off the line August 24.

The plant's total passenger car capacity of 50 per hour is exclusively to the Pinto, while the present Mustang, Fairline and Falcon production is assigned to other Ford plants.

There is no change in the level of 3,500 hourly and salaried employes.

The company also reported that the number of hourly employes on layoff nationally has dropped to approximately 4,800 from a high of 11,000 reached earlier this year. Ford attributed the sharply lower layoff level to higher production schedules and recall of employes to replace others who have left in normal turnover.

ENGINE DESIGN

Oldsmobile, on all of its 1970 models, has incorporated a new concept in connecting rod bearing design that greatly enhances engine durability. The new bearing is concentric with the journal except for a small segment at the split line where it is eccentric. Oil system pressure is increased as a result, assuring better engine lubrication.

August, November Most Hazardous

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (UPI) — The most dangerous time of year on the nation's highways is at 6 p.m. on any Saturday in August or November, according to a survey by State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co.

The conclusion was drawn from a study of 2,828 fatal auto crashes during 1968. It showed that about 40 per cent of all the fatal accidents happened during the weekend, with most of these occurring on Saturday. The hour of 6 p.m. was the most common time for a fatal accident, with 1 a.m. nearly as high on the "crash-by-hour" chart.

August was the month during which most deaths occurred.

Other data compiled from the State Farm records indicated:

—Drivers under 30 and over 74 are involved in a disproportionately large share of fatal accidents.

—About four of every five drivers involved in the fatal accidents was a man.

—Three types of crashes accounted for almost three-quarters of the 1968 State Farm fatalities. These were broadside collisions, running off the road and head-on crashes.

—About two of five (41.8 per cent) of the fatal crashes involved collisions between two automobiles and about one of five (19.8 per cent) involved the insured's vehicle and some sort of fixed object, such as a telephone pole or bridge abutment.

The reports listed "improper driving" as the primary cause of 56.9 per cent of the fatal crashes studied.

The head-on collision was listed as the most common type of accident fatal to drivers; of the drivers killed, 31.4 per cent were involved in headon crashes.

Data on seat belts in the cars involved show that seat belts were available in nearly half (45.5 per cent) of the vehicles involved but they were being used in only one out of four cars equipped with them.

Ford Indicates 5% Price Boost On Most '71 Cars

By a Wall Street Journal Staff Reporter

DEARBORN, Mich. — Ford Motor Co. has added fuel to the growing push for hefty across-the-board price increases this fall on new cars and trucks.

In letters to Ford and Lincoln-Mercury division dealers, the company said it is increasing advance car-billing prices 5% on all models.

If Ford raised its suggested retail prices 5%, the increase would average about $150 a car. A 5% increase in the suggested retail price of the Montego would boost its base price about $141.

The increases are bigger than Ford's boosts last year. It raised sticker prices an average of $108, but the cars cost buyers an average of $137 more than 1969 models after adjustment.

INFLATABLE TIRE

A collapsible spare tire is offered as an option with most Buick models in 1970. The collapsible tire can be inflated with a compressed gas bottle which comes with the package.

MILLBRAE

Functional hood scoops that carry cool outside air directly into the carburetor are identifying marks of Buick's GS models, a 1970 introduction to the line.

The hardtop model shown (there also is a convertible) is powered by Buick's 455-cubic inch engine.

Even pretty girls swinging heavy baseball bats are unable to dent the front bumper on Pontiac Motor Division's 1970-plus Firebird. The rubber-like Endura bumper is claimed to be functionally superior to any metal bumper now being used and resists dings, dents, chips and rust. If it is hit hard enough to leave a dent, under most circumstances it will return to its original form almost immediately.

DECORATIVE VINYL

Vinyl insert protective body moldings are featured on 1970 Dodge Polara models. The vinyl will not crack or chip.

A fiberglas hood with integral ram air scoops is a distinguishing feature of Oldsmobile's 1970 Holiday hardtop coupe. The 4-4-2 series also has been popular in its sports coupe and convertible models.

School Bus Training Plan

A school bus orientation program conducted recently by GMC Truck & Coach Division in 30 major cities will be extended to other areas and repeated in some locations because of "extremely favorable response" from school bus drivers and education officials.

General Motors Vice President Martin J. Caserio, general manager of GMC Truck & Coach, reported the initial series of 71 vehicle familiarization classes was attended by nearly 3,000 school bus drivers, bus owners and educators.

Additional programs will be held over the next several months in each of the division's 19 sales zones across the nation, he said. Special sessions have already been scheduled in Florida, Montana, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and Texas.

The GMC program was developed to complement existing school bus driver education and safety programs.

The four-hour sessions place special emphasis on how buses function mechanically, their prime components and general and specific maintenance requirements, Caserio said.

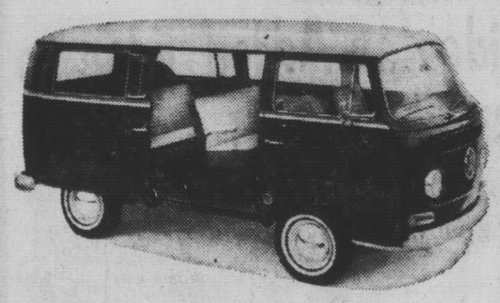

"Subject matter is presented in nontechnical layman's terminology since school bus driving is a part-time occupation for a wide variety of persons including housewives, retirees, students and teachers," he pointed out.

IGNITION SYSTEM

An important technical development incorporated on all 1970 Oldsmobile engine is a new ignition timing system. Called transmission controlled spark (TCS), it reduces exhaust emissions by as much as 30 per cent without affecting the engine's performance.

Ceiling Lights As Reminders

The 1970 Dodge Challenger formal coupe has three lights mounted in an overhead consolette. Low fuel, door ajar, and seat belt signs light up to remind you to check gas, make sure doors are closed and seat belts fastened. Each of the last two lights go on for 30 seconds when a door is not completely closed, and-or when the seat belt is not fastened.

TODAY'S SPECIALS

Improved Toyota Corona Sedan Added To '70 Line

Toyota is introducing a restyled and beefed-up Corona sedan as a late-1970 addition.

This newly designed and engineered model is a result of the Toyota Motor Company's research and development toward passenger comfort, safety, economy, styling, performance and quality.

The new longer, lower and more powerful Corona is classified as a 1970 model, Toyota officials report.

The new Corona's powerplant has been beefed-up. The horsepower has been raised by 20 per cent to 108 at 5500 rpm by the installation of an overhead cam engine that produces better acceleration and a higher cruising speed, yet still retains the Corona's traditional 25 mpg economy of operation.

Other innovations in the new Corona's power-plant include the use of more aluminum in the engine to lighten the car's weight and to dissipate heat faster. A five main bearing crankshaft instead of the former three—and the use of a dual exhaust manifold system to improve performance.

The new Corona also features a new power braking system with front disc brakes for greater stopping power. The new system is a dual hydraulic type with a pressure control valve and vacuum booster.

Toyota has utilized a newly engineered suspension system for a smoother and quieter ride. The system features coil springs with hydraulic telescopic shock absorbers and torsion stabilizers on the independent suspended front wheels; and a rear system of asymmetrical, semi-elliptical leaf springs with double-acting hydraulic telescopic shock absorbers.

The new Corona is much roomier with more headroom, legroom, hiproom and trunk space.

The four doors are still there. So is the flo-through ventilation, the nylon carpeting, the tinted glass, the courtesy lights, the whitewall tires and the locking glove box—all standard equipment.

There's a sporty European road car flair to the 1970 Cougar, a popular entry in the Lincoln-Mercury Division line. In addition to the convertible shown, the Cougar is available is a hardtop model.

Crossing The Alps By Motor Tunnel

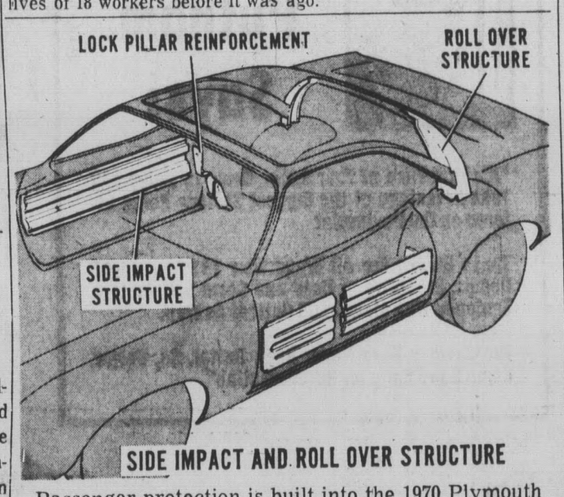

The Mont Blanc Automobile Tunnel — the world's longest road tunnel, running for seven miles through the rugged 15,000-feet-high French Alps — has been called both a modern engineering miracle and the best thing that ever happened to travel in the highest mountains of Europe.

Initially conceived in 1930 as a great "shortcut" between France's Chamonix Valley and the Aosta Valley of northern Italy, and ultimately between Paris and Rome, the tunnel wasn't started until nearly three decades later, in 1959.

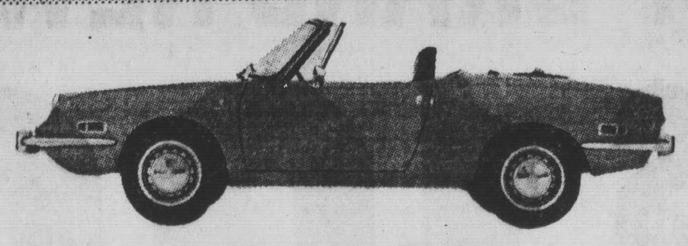

It took six and a half years of around-the-clock construction, at a cost of $61 million and the lives of 18 workers before it was finally opened to traffic in July, 1965.

Optimistic officials within the sponsoring French, Italian and Swiss governments had predicted that 350,000 vehicles would pass through the giant man-made hole 6,000 feet below the mountain crests during its first year of operation. That number paid toll for passage inside of six months, surpassing even the officials' wildest expectations.

Upwards of a million vehicles will use the tunnel this year, according to the American Automobile Association. This would be more than 25 times the traffic that braved a perilously high, narrow and winding road over the same perennially snowy area only a few years ago.

Passenger protection is built into the 1970 Plymouth Barracuda. Safety features make the body stronger and protect occupants against roll-over or side impact. Roof and sides are substantially reinforced.

The Mehari by Citroen could be the answer to your hunting, fishing camping getaway dreams. (And it's a great fun car for the kids, too.)

It's loaded with features that will make your 1st car a little jealous: It can't scratch, dent or rust. Because it's made of Borg Warner's Cycolac ABS plastic.

On the inside, it's all Citroen: You get a factory gaurantee. A car engineered to carry 880 lbs. Front wheel drive. A 4-speed full synchro transmission. An air-cooled engine that can get you going to your fun at up to 70 m.p.h. With 40-plus m.p.g. economy.

Mehari by Citroen. The 3rd car. It makes a lot of sense. Take care of it, and it will probably outlast your 1st and 2nd cars. Think about it.

Dodge Division's compact Dart, whose "Swinger" model is shown, was leader in a record June sales month. Total car sales reached 47,977 units, headed by the Dart line with 20,917, an increase of 23 per cent over June, 1969. At the same time, Dodge Truck sales totaled 15,868, just a thousand less than the previous record month of March, 1942.

Porsche Has Sales Spurt

Porsche sales in northern California, northern Nevada and Utah were up 46 per cent for the first six months of 1970 compared with the same period in 1969.

The announcement was made by Robert W. Hansen, president of Porsche Audi West Inc., the distributor for Porsche sports cars and medium priced Audi sedans and station wagons in the three western-state area.

Porsche Audi West's 11 authorized dealers sold 935 units in the six-month period to rank the three western-state area as the second leading Porsche sales area in the country.

Dodge Provides Warning Flash

All 1970 Dodge Polara and Monaco models have the Hazard Warning Flasher switch located on the steering column. The switch has a simple push-pull action, and can be operated by the driver's right hand. It is also easily accessible to the front-seat passenger. Wiring is simplified by the new location and a change in circuitry allows the lights to continue flashing during brake application.

Olds Develops Valve Rotator

Exclusive to Oldsmobile in 1970 is the incorporation of a new positive valve rotator system on all V-8 engines, which extends valve life significantly. The system assures perfect seating of intake and exhaust valves, even at high mileage, by constantly polishing the valve sealing surfaces to a clean-mirror-like finish. As a result, combustion loss due to inperfect valve seating is prevented.

SAFETY DEVICE

Side impact bars, an important recent safety development, are incorporated in all 1970 Oldsmobile F-85's, 88's, and 98's. The protective steel bars, installed within the door panels on both sides of the vehicle, substantially reduce the hazard of side-impact collisions.
